

Golan Heights...A Critical Area

ISRAELI TANK ADVANCES (UPI Telephoto)

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS again, instead of gliding into Israeli forces invaded Syria's Golan Heights Friday and fought Syrian troops in an all-day battle that the Damascus government called "the heaviest, longest and fiercest" since the 1967 Middle East war. Syria said 45 of its soldiers were killed and 75 wounded. The military command in Tel Aviv said 10 Israeli troops were killed and 27 wounded. Israel launched the attack because Syria was "on the verge" of staging a border war of attrition, an Israeli officer told a news conference. The officer said the raid was intended to persuade the Syrians "to think of their crushing power," a military spokesman in Damascus said. "By now the Israelis and the U.S. imperialists who back them must have realized that June 5, 1967, will never be repeated." The fighting along the ceasefire line broke out Wednesday when Syrian tanks and artillery mounted a heavy attack against Israeli posts on the Golan Heights. Israel struck back Thursday with an air attack on army camps near Damascus and a broad artillery and tank drive all along the 50-mile front. On another front, an Israeli spokesman said an Egyptian MIG17 was shot down when it and several other planes struck but two civilians were wounded, he said. Jordanian forces reported the Israelis suffered some casualties. The military command in Tel Aviv said Arab gunners in Jordan fired a number of rockets at the Israeli frontier town of Beit Shean. He said there were no casualties and no damage. Meanwhile, Jordanian Foreign Minister Abdel Noneim Rifai is holding consultations on forming a new government at King Hussein's request, cabinet officials said today. Rifai began his mission, officials said, after the government, headed by Prime Minister Bahjat Talhouni said it wanted to resign. If Rifai is successful in forming a government, he is expected to establish closer ties with Palestinian guerrilla groups. Sources said most of the persons he is consulting are Palestinians, some of them former Cabinet ministers. Fighting between guerrillas and Jordanian army troops plunged the country into near civil war two weeks ago. Speculation that Talhouni's government would resign began soon afterward. A new government may be formed in time to talk with the four-man committee set up by the Arab summit in Tripoli last weekend to handle disputes between Jordan and the guerrillas. The committee was due to arrive in Amman today. Rifai, a graduate of the American University of Beirut, has had a long and distinguished career as a diplomat and was Jordan's chief delegate at the United Nations from 1959 to 1966. He became foreign minister in 1968, served as prime minister for six months last year, and is deputy prime minister in the present government.

Mass Evacuation For Cambodians

SAIGON (AP) — More than 8,000 Cambodian civilians and troops have been brought to South Vietnam in a massive emergency evacuation that means Cambodia has virtually abandoned its three northeastern provinces to the North Vietnamese. A military spokesman in Saigon confirmed today that the Cambodians were pulled out of two towns Labansiek and Bo Kheo, in a military operation that began June 24. "The operation is now complete," the spokesman said. The operation, originally announced as a drive to evacuate ethnic Vietnamese from the towns in Ratanakiri Province, was carried out by a 5,000-man ground force that pushed into Cambodia from Pleiku, South Vietnam. The refugees, including several hundred Cambodian troops, were brought out via Highway 19 to Pleiku and a nearby former U.S. base, Camp Enari. South Vietnamese troops involved in the operation said the evacuated Cambodian soldiers had no weapons. The pullout also was announced by a military spokesman in Phnom Penh, where officials had said earlier that both Labansiek and Bo Kheo were to be held "at all costs." The Cambodian spokesman gave a slightly different version of the evacuation, saying only that Cambodian troops had been withdrawn from the two cities by air. The pullout meant the Cambodians apparently have abandoned the country's three northeastern provinces—Ratanakiri, Mondulakiri and Stung Treng—to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. Bo Kheo and Labansiek are located in the area where the Ho Chi Minh trail runs south paralleling the South Vietnamese border. They are less than 30 miles west of Pleiku, South Vietnam. The Cambodian spokesman, Maj. Am Rong, said last month following the fall of Lonphat City, south of Labansiek, that the two towns would be held. The Americans wanted the Cambodians to stay in hopes that their presence would help in the current U.S. campaign of "interdicting" the enemy's infiltration and supply trails. The meaning of the decision to withdraw the troops, numbering more than one battalion from the two towns was not immediately clear. But diplomatic sources in Phnom Penh indicated earlier this month that Cambodia was prepared to concede about half of its territory to North Vietnamese control in order to save the central region including the capital. In addition to the provinces of Ratanakiri, Mondulakiri and Stung Treng, the North Vietnamese now have control of five provincial capitals and are contesting two others, Kompung Thom in central Cambodia and Kompung Speu, 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh. In other parts of Cambodia, spokesmen said, North Vietnamese troops again attacked a big munitions depot at Long Vek, 30 miles north of Phnom Penh, and were driven back by South Vietnamese aerial gunships in a nighttime battle. South Vietnamese troops claimed 34 enemy soldiers killed in fighting around Kompung Cham, some 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, and Kompung Trach, on Cambodia's southern tip. Meanwhile, the U.S. Command announced that upwards of 500 members of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's 2nd Brigade had returned to Vietnam from Cambodia as part of President Nixon's U.S. withdrawal program, scheduled to be completed by Tuesday. Most of the departing troops said they were glad to be getting back to South Vietnam. AP photographer Henri Huet reported that the men had complained they were "getting ambushed or running into mines every other day in Cambodia." The U.S. Command said the 1st Division had uncovered two more enemy caches, a weapons and a munition stockpile weighing 10 tons and a 40-ton rice cache. The command also said an AH1 Cobra helicopter gunship was shot down 12 miles inside the border and 16 miles northeast of Snuol, wounding the two crewmen.

Rioting Erupts in Three Northern Ireland Cities

LONDON, Northern Ireland (AP) — Protestants, Catholics and British troops battled in the streets of three Northern Ireland cities Friday night in riots touched off by the jailing of civil rights leader Bernadette Devlin. The violence began after Miss Devlin, 23, the youngest member of the British House of Commons, lost her last appeal and began a six-month sentence on charges of helping incite the Catholic-Protestant riots in Northern Ireland last year. More than 1,000 Protestants and Catholics were involved in Friday night's disturbances in Londonderry, Armagh, and Belfast, the capital of predominantly Protestant Northern Ireland. The rioting in Londonderry lasted five hours. Fourteen persons were arrested and 22 soldiers were injured, three requiring hospitalization. Eight soldiers were injured in Belfast, four seriously. Two men were injured in two hours of disturbances in Armagh, where Miss Devlin went to begin her sentence in the women's jail. The trouble in Belfast began when a Protestant procession ran into a rival march of Catholics protesting Miss Devlin's arrest. British troops firing tear gas separated the Protestant and Catholic crowds. Police in Londonderry also fired tear gas grenades. In London, about 70 Irish men and women marched to the district before being taken to jail. But 60 policemen intercepted her car and took her directly to Armagh. When she reached the heavily guarded jail, demonstrators outside shouted, "God bless you, Bernadette; you are a saint." She rolled down a window of the car and replied: "Thank you for turning up, but please don't cause any trouble." A British army spokesman said that although police had granted Miss Devlin permission to make the Bogside speech and then surrender, she was arrested out of fear she would deliver a dramatic talk that would trigger rioting. Ivan Cooper, a Protestant civil rights supporter who accompanied Miss Devlin from Belfast, went to the Bogside meeting, where news of Miss Devlin's arrest was greeted with an angry uproar. "She said, to tell you not to blame the ordinary Protestants for this, but to blame the people who are trying to deprive the working man of his civil rights," Cooper told the crowd. Miss Devlin's sentence does not mean she loses her right to vote in Parliament. With time off for good behavior, she could be freed by October. In the past two years, she has become a symbol of the drive by the Catholic minority in Northern Ireland to win what it considers equal rights in housing, jobs and voting. Miss Devlin's application for leave to appeal her conviction to the House of Lords was denied at a hearing in Belfast. Lord McDermott, Northern Ireland's lord chief justice, ruled the case of incitement to riot and riotous behavior had been clearly proved. Her lawyer argued that as a member of Parliament she had an overriding duty to come to the aid of people who were attacked or who feared they might be attacked.

Festival Promoters...A Setback

By NANCY SULLIVAN SAUGERTIES

The music festival planned for July 3 in the Town of Saugerties by Sound Festival Inc. may not be held. A Supreme Court ruling in Albany Friday denied the request made by promoters of the Summer Sound Festival to force the Town of Saugerties to take action on their application. Town Attorney Richard B. Overbagh said that the town agreed to accept the promoters' information but that this is "no indication of what the town will do." He said that Sound Festival Inc. will not be given a permit for July 3 because the Local Law No. 5 states that an application for such a permit must be filed at least 30 days prior to the festival. Sound Festival Inc. first filed their application on June 16 and Overbagh said that this would affect any other festivals they had planned within that 30-day range. The festival may still be held if the promoters decide to continue with their plans and hold the concert without a permit. They would be in violation of the local ordinance. A show cause order against the Town of Saugerties had been served Thursday night on Supervisor A. Michael Schovel by the promoters of the Summer Sound Festival, which was proposed for several weekends at the Pan Copeland eight-acre farm at Shultis Corners, High Woods. In court Friday, the town was required to show cause why a permit should not be granted to the Sound Festival to conduct its activity July 3. Overbagh said the promoters filed a written application for a permit but at the time it was filed, it was not complete. The board will now accept the additional information and stated that a new application does not have to be filed. At a recent Town Board meeting, when the new assembly law was adopted, Ian Haim, a young recording studio executive representing Sound Festival Inc., said the group has gone to great expense in order to avoid some of the problems of the Woodstock Festival held last summer at White Lake in Sullivan County. Haim explained to the board at that time that ticket sales would be limited to 2,000 and arrangements will be made to have cars parked elsewhere and those attending would be bused to the site on Glasco Turnpike. He also noted that the festivals would be held at specific hours including Friday 7 to 11 p.m.; Saturday, 4 to 11 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 to 6 p.m.

Controversy Over Cost, Site

Harkin Seeks Rondout Landfill Restudy

By JON POWERS

NAPANOCH residents protesting the proposed establishment of a landfill site along the Rondout Creek in the Town of Wawarsing may have won the first round in their battle with the Town Board. Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin has gone on record as stating that the Town should restudy its plans to establish the landfill in Napanoch. Wawarsing Councilman Frank Sahler has also indicated that further study is warranted. He told The Freeman today that the Town Board will "go back and review the whole proposition." Mrs. E. F. Messinger, a Napanoch resident who has spearheaded a vigorous letter writing and petition signing campaign against plans to place the dump on the banks of the Rondout Creek off Route 44-55, said she was "delighted" that the Town Board is reconsidering its original stand. Mrs. Messinger, however, was wary of possible political motives for the restudy. She warned that this "might be a stalling action," and added that, pending last minute postponement, the "Mother's March" would take place on Monday. The march, which is expected to attract a large number of Napanoch residents, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, will proceed to the Town Hall steps where Mrs. Messinger will present a petition calling for cancellation of the landfill plans. Wawarsing officials, meanwhile, have indicated that the Town Board might be having second thoughts about establishing the landfill in Napanoch. Sahler told The Freeman that Town Board members, along with town engineers, will make an on-site inspection sometime next week. Sahler also admitted that he is "critical of a couple of aspects of the plan." He expressed doubt that there was enough dirt at the site to provide for an adequate landfill. Sahler, however, declined to elaborate on further specifics, stating that he will wait for results of the re-study. Sahler did say, however, that the proposed 90-100 acre site is still "ideal" for a town barn but questioned the "feasibility" of placing a dump at that location. Napanoch residents are apparently not opposed to construction of a town barn at the site. Their primary complaint is the pollution and "smell" associated with landfills that may "destroy the delicate ecological balance" of the area. The "Mothers' March," scheduled for late Monday morning, apparently doesn't worry or bother town officials. Supervisor Harkin said that the residents have every right to protest but he added that they were probably misinformed. He added that the planned march was a "publicity stunt," a point that was freely admitted by Mrs. Messinger last week. "All we want to do," she said, "is to bring attention to something we feel is wrong." Napanoch residents are also continuing their plans for a mass rally at the July 2 meetings of the Town Board. It was not noted by town officials whether or not the topic of the proposed landfill will be discussed at the meeting but it was made clear that an investigation could not be initiated until after the meeting. Controversy surrounding the estimated cost of the landfill site has also been raised, with Napanoch citizens committee members charging that the price is exorbitant. According to informed sources, the same general tract of land was offered to the Town Board four years ago for an estimated $30,000. The Town Board is reportedly ready to pay an estimated $40,000 for a smaller parcel of the property. George Barthel, Ulster County Legislator from Wawarsing and former town supervisor, said the original price was closer to $21,000. The offer was made in a January 19, 1966 letter to the Town Board from Benjamin McDole, who owns the property in question.

Pastor Assigned To Pennsylvania

KINGSTON

The pastor of St. Mark's AME Church, 72 Wurts Street, for the past nine years has been transferred to Philadelphia.

The Rev. Alfred Banks assumes his new pastorate at Bethel AME Church, Lands-downe, Pa., where he is with the Philadelphia Conference of the denomination. The Rev. George Baker of Chatham has been named to the local church.

The Rev. Mr. Banks began his ministry at St. Mark's Church July 2, 1961. During his time in Kingston the church home has been moved from the Foxhall Avenue site to the former Congregation Avahav Israel on Wurts Street. Since the move in 1967, the new church building has been painted and redecorated. The pulpit and choir stand were rearranged with new furniture, communion table and rail and collection table.

In 1969, a loan for the second mortgage of $2,500 was paid off to the Kingston Trust Com-pany. Recently the worship

Rockefeller and Goldberg Exchange Charges

By United Press International
Governor Rockefeller says Arthur J. Goldberg's statements linking the governor with Nixon's administration policies are a "political smokescreen" designed to "cover up" Goldberg's tie with the Johnson administration.

Rockefeller said Friday that his Democratic-Liberal opponent, who served as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations during Johnson's term, was linked to the escalation of the Vietnam war and the consequent economic inflation.

Rockefeller made his comments after Goldberg repeated his statement that Rockefeller supported the Nixon administration's military action in Cambodia as well as Nixon's economic policies which, Goldberg said, have resulted in inflation and recession.

Rockefeller countered by charging that Goldberg was throwing up a political smokescreen, hoping that he and the Democratic party can try "to cover up Goldberg's connection with the war in Vietnam and inflation."

The governor declined to give his own opinion on American military action in Cambodia. He said he did not have the facts at hand on the issue that the president has.

Goldberg, meanwhile, told reporters in New York City that Rockefeller will get the "surprise of his life" if he debates on state issues during the campaign.

Goldberg made the statement at a news conference with three of his four running mates—Basil Paterson for lieutenant governor, Arthur Levitt for comptroller, and Adam Walinsky for attorney general.

The former U.S. Supreme Court justice read a list of questions addressed to Rockefeller, challenging the Republican governor's position on national issues like the Vietnam war and state issues such as drug rehabilitation.

"I think Governor Rockefeller and his cohorts have left this state in great disrepair," Goldberg said. "It is my impression that a government run like a big business, or with a big business mentality, does not serve the needs of the people."

Governor Rockefeller has been more interested in building grandiose monuments than in serving human needs," Goldberg said.

The only Democratic statewide candidate absent from the news conference was Rep. Richard D. Ottinger, the nominee for the U.S. Senate. Goldberg said he was endorsing Ottinger even though he, Goldberg, is all gone to see how his programs are working out."

Sen. Charles E. Goodell, opened a storefront campaign headquarters in New York City and predicted that Congress will end the war in Vietnam if President Nixon fails to do so.

The Jamestown Republican said he hopes Nixon will take the initiative in ending U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, but he expressed confidence that the House and Senate will act if necessary.

"If the President doesn't end the war, Congress will," he said. "I don't know how soon we don't have the votes yet, but we're gaining strength."

Goodell expressed his views as a news conference after formally launching his campaign for a full term in the Senate with a curbside speech to lunch hour crowds on Fifth Avenue.

Goodell is running with Governor Rockefeller on the Republican ticket, but he is also running on the Liberal ticket with Arthur J. Goldberg, the Democrat who hopes to unseat Rockefeller.

He said he considers Goldberg "a fine man," but that he supports Rockefeller for governor. "I will campaign for and with Rockefeller," he said. "But I will not campaign against Goldberg."

New Abortion Law Covers Single Girls

NEW YORK (UPI)—Seven-year-old "emancipated" unmarried girls will be eligible for abortions when the liberalized New York State abortion law goes into effect Wednesday, it was announced Friday.

At the same time, blue cross of greater New York decided for the first time to provide maternity benefits for single females, including dependent children of subscribers, provided ed the original contract originated in a group. Blue Shield was expected to follow suit, a spokesman said.

Blue Cross covers hospital bills and blue shield doctors' bills. It was estimated that cash payments would range up to $150 for Blue Cross, and up to $100 for Blue Shield, when approved.

Officials of city hospitals said abortions will be performed on minors if the patient is married, "emancipated," or at least 17 years old.

By "emancipated," authorities meant a girl "who is self supporting or living away from home under such circumstances that she makes most of her own decisions," a spokesman for the city hospital corporation said.

The board of directors of the corporation gave its unanimous approval to the new policy, the spokesman said. The body takes control of the city's 18 hospitals on the same day the liberalized abortion law takes effect.

Under the new abortion law, women may obtain abortions from licensed physicians during the first six months of pregnancy. Abortions may be performed in a doctor's office provided it is properly equipped.

4-Car Crash On the T-Way

KINGSTON—A four-car crash four miles south of Kingston on the New York State Thruway sent two persons to Benedictine Hospital with minor injuries early Saturday morning, according to troopers from the Kingston substation.

State Police reported that an auto operated by Steven Bentley, 21, of 61 Pine Grove Avenue in Kingston went out of control while attempting to pass an auto driven by Andrew Morrow, 23, of 230 Seamon Avenue, New York City. Bentley's car struck the rear of Morrow's car and then swerved off the right shoulder of the highway, striking two other cars parked on the shoulder. Bentley and Morrow were traveling north on the superhighway when the accident occurred.

Injured in the crash were two passengers in one of the autos parked on the side of the highway. F. Colos, 21, of Spring Valley, and Gloria James, 40, of Patterson, New Jersey sustained minor lacerations and were taken to Benedictine Hospital where they were later released. The other passengers in an auto operated by Evans Bodie, 38, of 140 Eckerson Road, Spring Valley.

The other auto involved in the accident was owned by Wayne Bauer, 20, of 63 Ruff Court, Patterson, N.J.

No summonses were issued. Trooper Jerry Pine investigated.

$3.75 Million Damage Suit Filed by Three Hobart Students

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—Three Hobart College students facing riot charges have filed a $3.75 million federal suit against law enforcement officials they claim conspired to lure them into breaking the law.

The suit, filed in Rochester Thursday and Buffalo Friday, seeks $1.25 million each for Raphael Martinez, Bruce L. Davis and Sean C. Campbell.

The document charged that Sheriff Ray O. Morrow of Ontario County and "others in his department" formulated the conspiracy in order to remove the three "as effective leaders of the Hobart College community."

It said that Thomas Tongyai, an undercover deputy who used the alias "Tommy the Traveler," was the agent who tried to trap them into violating the law.

Specifically, the suit said Tongyai tried to supply them with hand grenades, bombs and rifles and urged them to "blow up college buildings and destroy United States Government property on the campus."

It also asserted that Tongyai tried to sell marijuana and hashish to Martinez and asked that he peddle the narcotics.

Martinez, Campbell, Davis and another student were arrested June 11 on charges of riot and obstructing governmental administration.

The charges stemmed from their alleged participation in a student police confrontation six days earlier when Tongyai led officers on a drug raid on the Hobart campus in Geneva.

The suit claimed that after their arrest, the three were subjected to rough treatment, including a 90-mile-an-hour ride to the county jail at Canandaigua.

The speed, it said, was "maliciously and purposely directed toward scaring and intimidating" them.

Besides Morrow and Tongyai, the suit names Dist. Atty. Willard Best, Geneva Police Chief Thomas McLaughlin and seven others as defendants.

At a hearing in Geneva City Court Friday, Best said he could not prosecute a harassment complaint brought against Tongyai by Martinez because of conflict of interest.

Martinez' lawyer said he also did not want to pursue Tongyai's prosecution because of the pending civil suit.

Judge Joseph Caito ordered Martinez, who is in New York City, to indicate in court next Tuesday whether he wanted the case to proceed.

In a related development Friday, state officials disclosed that Gov. Rockefeller would appoint two Rochester lawyers, E. Garrett Cleary and Leon N. Armer, as special prosecutors in an investigation of the entire Hobart affair.

Both Cleary and Armer are former Monroe County assistant district attorneys.

Support Mounts For Pat's Flight

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—First Lady Pat Nixon's earthquake relief mission to Peru is gaining momentum with new appeals for funds and the loading of tons of supplies today.

A C135 Air Force cargo plane has been added and will fly behind the First Lady's presidential jet plane with an extra seven tons of relief goods.

The two planes were ready to be loaded this afternoon at El Toro Marine Air Station near the Western White House.

A 7:30 a.m. departure from there Sunday is set for Mrs. Nixon on a 4,180-mile nonstop flight to Lima on Peru's Pacific Coast.

The 20,000-pound cargo of "priority needs" will include tents, blankets and warm clothing. A special donation of 350 blankets came from members of the President's official family, including his Cabinet. They were collected during the past two days since Mrs. Nixon's mission was announced.

The Western White House issued a last-minute appeal for funds for the 800,000 homeless and 100,000 injured victims of the earthquake disaster.

Presidential counselor Robert H. Finch, coordinator of U.S. relief aid to Peru, sent telegrams Friday asking mayors of six U.S. cities which have Sister City programs with Peru to raise money to be delivered by Mrs. Nixon.

"In this time of national need you may want to contribute to the relief and rehabilitation to those who are closest to you in that country," Finch wired the mayors of Pensacola, Fla.; Sioux City, Iowa; Santa Barbara, Calif.; Flint, Mich.; Charlotte, N.C. and Vancouver, Wash. They are part of the Sister City projects launched with Latin-American cities during President Eisenhower's administration to promote inter-American relations. They are linked to Lima on Peru's Pacific Coast.

Two State Conventions; Humphrey Endorsed

Connecticut Democrats were to name their choice today for replacing Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, while Virginia Republicans pondered whether to nominate a Senate candidate at all.

Party regulars at the GOP convention in Richmond, Va., sought to turn back the move by supporters of Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., a Democrat turned independent, to block a Republican nomination.

Byrd has wooed the GOP vote though he has shunned membership in either party. Gov. Linwood Holton urged delegates Friday night to come up with a candidate of their own.

At Hartford, Conn., both Alphonse J. Donahue, a wealthy businessman, and State Sen. Edward J. Marcus claimed they would win endorsement for Dodd's seat in the day's balloting.

In Minnesota Friday, former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey swept to an easy and expected endorsement from the Democratic state convention in his bid to return to the Senate.

Humphrey, the party's presidential nominee in 1968, received 948 convention votes to 245 for Earl D. Craig, a 31-year-old university instructor who vowed that he will run in either the September primary or as an independent in November.

Humphrey will be opposed by Republican Clark MacGregor, 47, a 10-year congressman linked closely with Nixon administration policies.

The former vice president told the convention that his desire to end U.S. involvement in Vietnam is "second to none."

"We've gone far beyond the call of duty," he said. "Now it's a matter of priorities."

The Democratic race in Connecticut, was narrowed two weeks ago when Dodd, victim of a May 13 heart attack, withdrew. He has said he may run as an independent, however.

The Senate veteran was censured by his colleagues in 1967 for his misuse of campaign funds.

Donahue was predicting a first-ballot victory, while Marcus claimed either the first or second ballot. A third hopeful, the Rev. Joseph Duffey, Americans for Democratic Action chairman, aimed merely at receiving 20 per cent of the delegate votes, enough to qualify him for the Aug. 19 primary.

Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, mentioned as a potential Democratic presidential nominee in 1972, told the Connecticut group Friday night that "the present of administration strives for mediocrity by embracing the status quo and adopting a wait and see attitude toward our most urgent problems."

If the Virginia Republicans were to name their own man rather than holding the spot vacated by Byrd in November, it made any such commitment.

Ray L. Garland and Darrell Branstetter, both of Roanoke, and Dr. Kenneth L. Haggerty of Arlington.

Virginia GOP Chairman Warren B. French Jr. predicted one of the three would emerge as the nominee. Meanwhile, one of the Byrd supporters promised de-quo and adopting a wait and see attitude toward our most urgent problems.

Republican party—but I can't say when."

Byrd, however, later issued a statement denying that he had made any such commitment.

Powell, 61, had originally been scheduled to attend a recount he demanded Thursday, but said late Friday, "I will not be at the recount until the questions are answered either before the Board of Elections or a grand jury."

The recount was recessed at Powell's request, but will be resumed this morning, Board of Elections Commissioner Maurice J. O'Rourke said.

O'Rourke also flatly denied that any of the machines were in the district warehouse. He said 224 of the 238 machines used in the district were in a warehouse.

The other 14 were accounted for.

Braves Hit the Road—Again!

KINGSTON
The nomads of the Mid-Hudson Rookie League—the Kingston Braves travel to Newburgh Sunday for a game with the Newburgh Atoms.

Normally, there would be no great significance attached to this event. However, this is the seventh straight time this season the Braves are hitting the road for a Hudson Valley Rookie League contest.

Why? Well, Fred Davi, Manager Buster Narum and all the little Braves have been waiting patiently—and waiting and waiting for the new lighting system to be completed at Dietz Stadium.

Kingston's gypsies have been playing exceptionally well in the hinterlands, considering the fact they have yet to play a home game.

How much longer it will be before the procedural farce is completed at Dietz Stadium and the Braves can move in is a moot question. A target date of July 12 went by the boards and the Braves had to sit on their hands and blow a chance to feature Joe DiMaggio.

Any wonder that Manager Narum is instructing his boys in the fine art of leaf-raking and snow shoveling.

Narum, the former major league pitcher, has probably suffered more than anyone else because his team has to play all of its games on the road. The stylish hurler has yet to give up an earned run in three league starts. The big disadvantage to a pitcher in this instance is the fact he can't benefit from the home half of the ninth if he trails.

Narum isn't sure who will start Sunday, himself, Charlie Moore or Ray Zappone. If Buster takes the hill, Bernie Schaefer will be managing the club.

"Bernie has done a great job in helping me with the team," said Narum. "In fact, all the boys have been outstanding. It's a tough job when you play just once a week in different ball parks each time. The boys have a lot of talent and once we get home, we're going to be ready," he concluded.

Outfield Dave Horton has been doing most of the hitting for the club, batting .421 with eight hits in 19 at bats. Horton splits duties between the outfield and first base.

Skip Lyons, also an outfielder, has been bombing the ball at a .353 clip, six-for-17, with three home runs, tying him for the club lead with the third fly chaser, Jerry Hawkins. The Hawk is currently hitting .250, rather anemic for him. However, he has three homers in five games and is the club's runs-batted-in leader with eight.

Hurlers Fire Four-Hitters

Mark Landers of Kingston, Patrolmen's Association and Jim Milano of the Elks won a pair of 4-hitters in Babe Ruth League action.

Landers bested Bud Lucas of the Hurley Lions, 4-4, striking out 13. Lucas, who also allowed only four hits, whiffed 12.

In another game, Mike Palladino of the Knights of Columbus dropped a 1-hitter to Bob Marz and the Volunteer Firemen, 5-4.

A wild pitch and throwing error accounted for the two KPA tallies against the Lions. The Hurley tally in the first was also unearned to spoil a fine pitching duel.

A two-run triple by Lyle Schuler highlighted a three-run rally by Elks in the third against VFW. Milano nailed down the win with 13 strikeouts.

Charlie Barton's homer and Bruce Beesmer's triple enabled the Knights to convert three hits into four runs, while the Vols needed only a single by Ed Glynn to rob Palladino of a no-hitter and steal the victory.

Players with two hits included Chuck Bouton, Dan Brown and Milano.

SOAP BOX DERBY DAY — Mayor Francis R. Koenig (seated-R) surrounded by Soap Box Derby officials, proclaims July 11, 1970, as Soap Box Derby Day in Kingston. ## Mayor Proclaims July 11 Derby Day

KINGSTON 33rd anniversary of the International Coasting Competition claimed July 11, 1970, as Soap and Derby Director Peter Kearney day for the City of the new anticipates the largest turn Kingston. This year marks the out ever.

Ulster County is keeping pace with the tremendous resurgence of organized shooting—traps, skeets, pistol and rifle—around the nation.

One county rod and gun club that has been in the vanguard of the sport for some time now is the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club with headquarters at St. Remy. The Katrine group, of course, has long been one of the most active and progressive units in the membership of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County.

THE FAMILIAR CRY of "pull" is heard with increasing volume as local trapshooters devotees converge on the Katrine trap facilities at St. Remy every Wednesday evening. This is a beautiful complex and game preserve.

Robert (Bob) Schmedake, trap field chairman of the club, is regarded as the man directly responsible for creating one of the finest trap and skeet fields in the mid-Hudson area. His excellent publicizing of the events has immeasurably enhanced prestige and renowned interest in these ancient arts.

An excellent marksman in his own right, Schmedake was assisted by several club members in bringing about a resurgence of trap and skeet shooting. A once wooded area has been cleared and replaced with green grass and a fine, open background.

A LIGHTING SYSTEM of 19,000 watts insures almost daylight conditions for the evening shoots that end promptly at 10 p. m.

Squads of five men are on the target line starting promptly at 6 p. m. each Wednesday night. Each shooter fires 5 shots from 5 different positions for a single "string" of 25. Award patches are given for perfect 25 rounds and some even have hit the coveted "50 in a row." The patches are displayed prominently on the shooting vests.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS a round of 25 was shot for a modest 90 cents. Costs have risen substantially but the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club has kept the shooting fees as low as possible.

Two electric carts are in operation and a new set of electric skeet traps have just been installed.

Schmedake has indicated the field will operate as late into fall as weather conditions permit. A building, complete with light and heat, has been moved to the field to insure complete comfort for everyone.

The shoots, incidentally, are not limited to Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club members. The general public is invited to view the shoots or participate.

There are many other rod and gun clubs in Ulster County that have traps and skeet shooting open to the public. The county federation has an annual circuit shoot each month with teams and individuals competing for trap shooting championships.

TRAPSHOOTING IS an outdoor sport where a participant fires a shotgun at a catapulted target. The target, commonly called a claybird, is a saucer-shaped object approximately four inches in diameter and 1 1/8 inches high.

In normal competition, five shooters are lined up on the 16-yard line of a trap field—one man on each side of the five shooting stations. Each shooter calls for and shoots at a target in consecutive order until five shots have been fired per man.

Each shooter then moves to the next station on the right, except the one in station No. 5, who moves back around to station No. 1. This procedure is repeated until each shooter has fired at five targets on each station and a total of 25 shells have been fired.

THE TRAP FIELD is laid out in such a way that the trap (or catapult) is centered between the No. 3 station and an angle of 44 degrees is formed between the first and fifth stations at 11-degree intervals. The target is thrown away from the shooter at any angle within his 44-degree angle at approximately 60 miles per hour on a signal from the shooter. The object of the sport is to break the largest percentage of targets thrown.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica says trap-shooting originated in England about 1830. Live birds were used for targets. Clay targets were introduced about 1860.

Trap shooting was introduced in the United States in the late 1870's. Since then, it has grown to the widely participated sport of today which is climaxed each year at the Grand National Shoot in Ohio.

Zappone Hurls 2nd Shutout

KINGSTON
Ray Zappone of the Rosendale Merchants turned in his second straight shutout in the City Baseball League, outdueling Charlie Moore of the Glasco Athletic Club, 1-0.

Last week, the former New Paltz High School star, fired a no-hitter and struck out 19 in routing Hurley VFW, 12-0.

Zappone and Moore each allowed two hits and struck out 12. The Merchants scored the lone run of the contest in the third inning but details were not reported.

Mike Patrick and Johnny Green collected the two Rosendale hits. Moore and Tom Solys had the two Glasco singles.

A doubleheader is scheduled at Dietz Stadium this evening, with Hurley meeting the Lions Club at 5:30 p.m. and Rosendale taking on Kingston at 8 p.m.

Robinson Matches Record

(By United Press International) up most of the previous night, any consideration to playing second in the sixth against Joe Frank Robinson started The boy was suffering with a Friday night's game. Robinson hit his first grand slam five more runs. The eight runs slams as an American Leaguer batted in one game were a back and ended it singing the serious about his sore back, in the fifth inning off Joe career high for Robinson, who praisers of teammate Don injured in Boston Thursday, but Coleman to boost the Orioles recalled that he once knocked Biard.

in between, he batted his way into the record book as the third player in major league history to hit grand slam homers in two consecutive innings as the Baltimore Orioles walloped the Washington Senators, 12-2. Only Jim Gentile of Baltimore in 1961 and Jim Northrup of Detroit in 1968 had hit grand slams and driven in a total of eight runs in two straight innings.

But Robinson, now in his 15th major league season and an old hand at "putting on interviews," insisted he isn't the Orioles' current hot hitter. "That Don Buford," he said, "he's really hot ... he got four hits in Boston Thursday and maybe a dozen in the last four games."

Serious Side

Robinson was serious about his ailing son, seven-year old Frank Kevin, with whom he sat

Detroit became the likely site for the bout after the state of Washington denied a promoters'

request for a title fight in Seattle.

Promoters of the Washington fight said they had a photostatic copy of a license which would allow the controversial Clay to fight in Michigan.

But Charles Davey, chairman of the Michigan Athletic Board of Control, denied such a license had been issued.

Other members of the board said Friday they expect Davey to call a meeting, but they had yet to hear from the board chairman.

A spokesman for Michigan

Gov. William Milliken said the governor is also awaiting word from Davey on the matter before committing himself. While

Milliken has no direct control over the issuance of a license, his recommendation could have an effect on the board's decision.

Members of the board were uncertain as to whether the licence could be issued without a meeting being held.

Davey gave no indication Friday that he would call such a meeting. He would only say that approval of the fight must await formal application for licenses which he has not yet received.

Davey said that "if everything is in order, I personally have no objections" to the issuance of a license.

Promoters of the Detroit fight were unavailable for comment concerning the possible issuance of the license.

Americans Fight for Israel

WASHINGTON — Israel is host to a strange invasion of American volunteers. Many, ironically, are draft dodgers unwilling to fight for the U.S. in Vietnam but raring to fight for Israel against the Arabs. They are signing up in the Israeli army despite an explicit State Department warning that they may lose their U.S. citizenship by serving in the armed forces of another country. The number of Americans in Israeli uniform is a secret that neither country wants to talk about. The U.S. is anxious to avoid the slightest impression of American involvement in the Mid-East fighting. And Israel, having raised a holler about Russian pilots in Egypt, doesn't wish to advertise that Americans are fighting on the Israeli side. An estimated 2,000

Americans came to Israel to enlist during the 1967 Six Day War. Probably most of them have now drifted back home, but others have shown up at the recruiting offices. There are an additional 20,000 U.S. citizens who have taken up residence in Israel. The majority are young enough to be subject to military service under Israeli law. In practice, Israel won't draft anyone who makes an issue of his American citizenship, just as the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv shuts its eyes to the violations of those who take up arms for Israel. Both countries would rather avoid any action that might attract attention to the Americans in the Israeli army. My associate Les Whitten, in a report from Tel Aviv, writes: "The American volunteers arrive here with dreams of dashing Israeli soldiers, wearing berets and carrying Sten guns, against a background of stirring music from 'Exodus.' More often, they wind up on K.P. duty amid the glamor of pots and pans. "For the Israelis prefer to put the 'Sabras,' as the native-born Israelis are called, on the firing line. The Sabras, who make up 41 per cent of the population, know no other land. The army theory is that they have no place else to call home, therefore, they will fight more ferociously for Israel.

Footnote: At Sixth Fleet headquarters in Naples, the U.S. Navy has drawn up contingency plans to evacuate the 20,000 American citizens from Israel if their safety should be threatened. The Navy is prepared to send the Marines ashore, if necessary, to protect the Americans. But likely, most of them would elect to stay in Israel and fight.

Unreported Fees

Brooklyn's battling black congresswoman, Shirley Chisholm, has failed to tell the House Ethics Committee about thousands of dollars she earned from speaking last year.

The pert, 45-year-old lady legislator, at first, insisted to this column that the $8,000 she declared in her official filing was all she netted from her whirlwind speaking in 1969. Then, confronted with reports that she had accepted speaking engagements almost every weekend for fees as high as $1,500, she amended her answer. The $8,000 constituted only the net fees, minus expenses, from "the big universities," she contended.

Even this total, she conceded, might be closer to $9,000. She estimated that her additional honoraria from smaller institutions might add up to another $3,000 to $4,000. "When you consider what other Congressmen take in from their law practices, under the table, it just gets me mad," she said snappishly when questioned about the money she withheld from her declaration.

Mrs. Chisholm explained that she had listed the $8,000 figure from one section of her tax returns. The other fees, she said, were listed elsewhere on her forms. Under the House rules, she should have listed all her fees in her statement to the House Ethics Committee.

It should be added, in fairness, that Mrs. Chisholm has won the respect of her colleagues for her hard work, sharp mind and political courage. Even skeptical conservatives have been impressed with the way she does her legislative homework.

She has carried her full load in the House at the same time that she has made flying trips all over the country to lecture. Incidentally, she has often turned down big fees to speak at small black gatherings for nominal fees or nothing at all.

Footnote: Some Congressmen didn't report any speaking fees at all last year because of a technicality in the wording of the House rules. The language has now been repaired.

Cambodian Checkerboard
The latest intelligence reports out of Cambodia confirm the worst fears of President Nixon's critics.

It is now clear that the bulk of the North Vietnamese forces escaped from their sanctuaries and took plenty of ammunition along with them. They immediately dispersed into small, independent units and scattered all over Cambodia.

Thus the President's Cambodian operation has succeeded in turning all of Cambodia into a checkerboard battlefield. Enemy forces, which previously kept scrupulously inside the narrow sanctuary strip, now make military strikes all over Cambodia.

Once the Americans pull out, there will be no military force left capable of preventing a communist takeover of Cambodia. Instead of a narrow strip, the communists may wind up with all Cambodia for a sanctuary.

Curious Systems

The British have an odd political system, quite as odd as that of their cousins, the Americans.

In America, the president is chosen or rechosen every four years. Members of the Congress are also chosen or rechosen at this time—all 435 of the representatives and approximately one-third of the 100 senators.

Every two years, between presidential elections, all the seats in the House of Representatives are up for grabs, and another one-third of the Senate seats.

This is iron-clad law written into the Constitution. Thus every American who can add by twos and fours knows the year of every congressional or presidential election that will be held from 1970 to eternity.

The underprivileged British have no Constitution. There is, however, a statute requiring a parliamentary election every five years. But the party in power may call an election at any time within five years of the last election, and usually does.

This opens the possibility that a cagey prime minister could call an election at a time he was enjoying a peak of popularity, however unfair that might be to the party out of power (quaintly called "the Loyal Opposition").

In 1966, for example, only two years after having ousted the Conservatives, the Labor party called an election to beef up its narrow majority in Parliament.

It doesn't always work, though, as was demonstrated the other day by the "Truman-over-Dewey" upset by the Conservatives' Edward Heath over Prime Minister Harold Wilson of the Labor party. The overconfident Mr. Wilson discovered that popular concern with rising prices, unemployment and the country's growing racial problem ran much deeper than he, or the pollsters, appreciated.

In America, by contrast, a president is stuck with a foreordained election. Yet while he does not enjoy the privilege of a prime minister in being able to manipulate an election to take advantage of events, presidents (and congressmen) have been known to manipulate events to take advantage of an election—like "bringing the boys home" before election day, cutting taxes (or not raising taxes) during an election year and so on.

In this respect, the advantages and disadvantages of the different system in the United States and the United Kingdom would seem to average out.

An incidental curiosity: In America, no man may by law serve more than two consecutive terms as president. In Britain, not by law but by just-reaffirmed tradition, no man has ever been elected prime minister three times.

But wait a minute — no man has ever been elected prime minister, either. The candidates whom everyone knows are running for prime minister actually run for Member of Parliament (MP) from their "home" districts (where they may or may not have their home). It is by virtue of his position as leader of his party that a man becomes prime minister—providing his party wins a majority of the 630 seats in Parliament.

As a formality, and by way of earning her $1.14 million annuity, the queen requests the winning party leader to form a new government. The change-over is immediate; there are no lame-duck Parliaments or prime ministers.

Strange. But even stranger is the practice in America, where presidential and congressional candidates run independently of each other.

Whereas in Britain the national leader is always of the same party as the majority in Parliament, in America the voters on occasion have made the candidate of one party president while giving the other party the majority in Congress—thus insuring that a minimum of foolish laws are passed in the two years before the next election.

Neither country, of course, understands how the other gets along under its peculiar system, and it is indeed a wonder that both systems seem to work as well as they do.

The reason, of course, is that the citizens of the two countries want their respective system to work and make them work.

Clumsy, inefficient, oft-times undemocratic, the parliamentary system and the presidential system is each in its own way the worst possible form of government—except as Winston Churchill would say, for everything else that has ever been tried.

"Of Course, We're Not Asking You to Leave!"

Nixon's Veto Reviewed

WASHINGTON — For the first time in 10 years a Presidential veto has been overridden in the House of Representatives. President Nixon had vetoed a bill authorizing 2.76 billion dollars for grants and loans to be made for hospital construction. He felt that Congress had gone beyond his budget and tried to tie his hands in making cuts.

The bill, which had been passed by both Houses and then vetoed, aims to extend for three years the expiring provisions of the Hill-Burton Act, under which the federal government has helped to pay bills for local hospital construction. It also sets up a new loan subsidiary program, as requested by Mr. Nixon, who wanted the old grant program to expire. The new bill, however, requires the President to spend in three years all the funds appropriated under the measure and whatever Congress may decide later to put into the various health programs. Mr. Nixon called this fiscal irresponsibility.

When the veto came to the House of Representatives, the Democrats voted almost solidly to override it. With 337 members voting, 252 votes were needed to re-pass the bill, and 279 were obtained, while 98 voted to sustain the veto. In this latter group were only three democrats, and the rest of the sustaining vote consisted of 95 Republicans. It is apparent that a number of Republicans joined with the Democrats to override the veto.

Indeed, without the help of a few Republican members who voted to override the veto, it could not have been done. So Mr. Nixon can hardly put all the blame on the Democratic Party.

The issue, of course, is a political one. Most of the lawmakers felt that they would be criticized as being "against health" if they didn't uphold the measure as originally passed. The President, on the other hand, presumably did not make a case for his side of the argument. Thus, for the first time in a decade the House recorded the overriding of a Presidential veto.

The Democrats are pleased with the result because they think it will aid them politically this autumn. It is, however, probable that the issue will not be widely understood, and by November there will be questions raised as to whether a Republican majority would be more helpful to a Republican President than the Democrats have been. For, in the case of the Health Bill, the Republicans would not have defected if an embarrassing situation had not been created by their colleagues. Many of them realized they were not supporting the President, but they felt they had no other choice under the circumstances.

It is not often that a Presidential veto is overridden. Not only is the incident this week the first in the House in 10 years, but there have been only 73 cases in our history when Congress has passed a bill over the President's veto.

President Nixon has not expressed himself on the effects of the veto and what he intends to do about the increase in expenditure in his budget which could result from this latest action by Congress. He doubtless will ask that cuts be made in other parts of the budget.

One of the arguments usually made against the administration by its opponents is that there is plenty of money but that too much of it is being used for military purposes, and that, if there were no war going on, such expenses as are provided in the vetoed measure would be readily available. President Nixon argues, on the other hand, that excessive government expenditure is a factor in stimulating inflation and that more money is being spent than is being collected in taxes.

Nowadays, for example, when a quasi-recession is supposed to be in progress, tax receipts may turn out to be surprisingly lower than they have been in other years. Budget estimates which have been based upon the idea that tax collections would not be seriously affected may possibly have to be reduced in a number of categories. Certainly by the end of 1970 the administration will have to review its expenditures in the light of reduced income from taxes and may have to cut expenses far more than it has done this year in order to maintain somewhere near a balanced budget.

Imports Wreck U.S. Jobs

When outgoing Assistant Secretary of Commerce Kenneth N. Davis Jr. asked Congress for regulations on certain excessive imports he took a swipe at probably the most ridiculous nonsense in our foreign relations. Must Uncle Sam be Uncle Sam forever?

Dealing with corrective legislation now buried in the House Ways and Means Committee, Mr. Davis pointed out that the 1964-69 trade balance in merely the textile, apparel, radio-television and shoe industries alone collapsed from a $500 million favorable U.S. export balance to a $4.5 billion import deficit.

Taking only these four industries, this $5 billion difference wiped out the full U.S. balance need for a year to cover our citizens' travel abroad, all U.S. foreign aid and all our State Department's operating expenses abroad.

The unrevealed hit on American employment is an even greater shock. The nonsense cost, in only these four industries, at least 400,000 jobs. And any Congressman who thinks American workmen can afford that in this recession must be out of his mind.

The balance-of-payments problem is just a soft name for our gold crisis. Textile imports are exceeding our textile exports by around $900 million a year, a terrible drain on our balance-of-payments. We take in British textiles but Britain, in turn, permits the import of no American coal whatever, our biggest balance-of-payments breadwinner. American coal is completely outlawed in England. We take in Japanese textiles on a Niagara-like scale that is famous. But Japan slaps a lethal tariff, and shut-out sales taxes within Japan, against American automobiles.

Says Japan's Nissan Automobile Company's export manager Kaiki Uno: "There is much room for our sales expansion in America."

Well, foreign sellers have already surpassed our country by making more than half of the world's automobile output. While our own automotive industry — this great bellwether industry and vital U.S. job-giver — languishes and lays off workers, foreign car imports are soaring to an all-time record 12 per cent. As one result, dealers in U.S.-built cars have declined nine times in the past 10 years. The only exception was 1963.

Except for Canada, we cannot sell our cars abroad in a single major country without leaping a prohibitive tariff barrier and in some we face an absolute shutout through a quota.

On March 1967, the Agriculture Department began to buy (taxpayers' money) 3.6 million pounds of domestic chopped beef to bolster our rangers' meat prices. This will boost our taxpayer purchases to 64 million pounds in recent years at a cost of $28.8 million.

Yet meat imports in a single month hit 100 million pounds. This is twice the usual average. The intensified meat invasion caused Congress to pass a law that when these imports reach 890 million pounds annually the Agriculture Department would apply quotas. What happened to the intent of Congress?

Meanwhile, foreign leather is killing off the prosperity of our taxpaying tanners and ranchers. We have lower leather tariffs than any leading nation. Why? And as for dumping, which under our law is illegal, we allow many countries that shut out the same American products to dump here aluminum, glass, chemicals, electrical ware, timber, wire goods, toys, mink pelts and heaven knows what.

We allow France, Germany, Italy, Spain and Portugal unlimited sales of their wines here (15 million gallons last year) and have no quota. Yet our taxpaying vineyards cannot sell a single bottle of American wine to any major European country at any price. They outlaw it by a quota system.

Foreign machine-tool imports have nearly doubled to an all-time high, including many we've allowed in from Iron Curtain countries. Yet one reason for the investment tax-credit law we had was to bolster our slumped machine-tool industry.

Free trade is the right goal. America must buy from the world, of course, to sell to the world. This is so elementary that you know it in your sleep. But every country in the world relates its imports to its domestic needs. So should we. It is high time, and especially in the battle against today's recession, that Congress acted — and at once — to stop the ridiculous nonsense in every case where free trade has been made a one-way street.

4-H Members at State Meet

CORNELL BOUND—Kathy Steltz, Edmund Berry and Paul Colucci take off for state 4-H Congress sessions at Cornell University this week. They, along with Paula Robinson, were awarded the trip for their outstanding achievements in local 4-H work. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

KINGSTON Twelve Ulster County 4-H members are back in town today after attending sessions of the State 4-H Congress at Cornell University this week.

The education excursion to Ithaca provided the 4-Hers with an opportunity to become acquainted with a large university, to learn of career opportunities, to be challenged by outstanding speakers, to participate in special discussion groups and to make friends from all over New York State.

This year's theme was Understanding and it is hoped that Ulster County participants have gained a greater understanding of self as well as others.

Paula Robinson, Paul Colucci, Edmund Berry and Kathy Steltz were awarded the trip on the basis of their outstanding 4-H achievements.

Others attending were Nancy Staats, High Falls; Mary Reisenauer, High Falls; Mary Ann Scism, Kingston; Kate Barnhart, Stone Ridge; Barbara Lasouska, Wallkill; Lisa Suppies, Kingston; Gloria Embree, Kingston and Barbara Sprague, Ellenville.

Teen leaders from around the ran the three-day Congress Wednesday through Friday at the Cornell campus. The 25 Congress leaders acted as chairmen of general and special sessions and leaders of a variety of group activities featured in the program. They were selected from 125 selected 4-H members for a special week of leadership training at Cortland prior to the 4th annual state congress at Cornell.

More than 1,000 delegates attended the congress sponsored by the Cooperative Extension at the New York State College of Agriculture and Human Ecology at Cornell. The program featured talks on the theme by several Cornell staff members.

Speakers and their topics were: Prof. Stephen C. Jones, Independence and Social Conformity; Mrs. Eleanor D. Macklin, You Can Make a Difference; Charles F. Dvorak Jr. and Prof. Edward A. Schano, Keys to Loving Behavior.

The opening ceremony Wednesday was preceded at 4 p.m. by presentation of Heartbeat, a musical on human understanding, by students from Bennett High School, Buffalo. In a special session in Barton Hall Thursday afternoon, delegates divided into a number of 4-H office, something new has been added.

Donna Wheat, Clifton Springs, has been employed as the Home Economics Summer Assistant by the Ulster County 4-H Division.

For adult advisors and chaperones, a special talk on Modern Adolescence: Life in the Second Half of the 20th Century, was presented. Prof. Richard E. Ripple in the Department of Education at Cornell was the speaker.

A panel discussion on Philosophy of Life and the traditional agent.

Band Giants

SYRACUSE The newest prize in this year's SYRACUSE of the grandstand throughout the day.

High School Marching Bands Competition at the New York State Fair is an invitation to the winner from New York Football Giants to perform at Yankee Stadium during halftime Sunday, December 6, when the Giants play the Buffalo Bills. This honor will go to the top band in addition to the Governor's Trophy and $400 in cash, according to Philip A. Natoli, School Band Chairman.

"The Giants are always happy to cooperate with high school bands," said E. Croke, Director of Promotion for the Giants, "and December 6 will be sort of an all New York State day with the Giants, the Bills and the winning band at the stadium." He added that the game will be televised by both CBS and NBC and broadcast by WNEW-Radio.

The high school band competition will be held on opening day at the State Fair, Tuesday, Sept. 1. Vying for a total of $900 in cash awards and 35 trophies, the bands will parade in front of the grandstand throughout the day.

Entry blanks have been sent to all New York State high schools, and the deadline for their return is July 31. More information may be obtained by writing to: School Band Chairman, New York State Fair, Syracuse, New York 13209.

Cash prizes and trophies will go to the bands placing in the top five in open class marching. Trophies will also be awarded to the bands placing sixth-tenth in open class marching and the top five in the following categories: Best Drum Major, Best Drum Major Team, Best Drum Majorette, Best Color Guard, and Best Twirling Unit. Each band will receive a participation trophy and each member will receive a souvenir felt emblem.

Last year a total of 3,248 musicians from 35 high schools participated in New York State participated. The winner was Bishop Kear-Steketee will be touring with the new High School in Rochester. The 1970 Fair will take place July 30 to Aug. 21 in several European countries.

September 1 through 7 at Syracuse. Mrs. Steketee is a former director of the junior choir at the Fair Street Reformed Church and both Mr. and Mrs. Steketee have been active with youth programs at their church for several years.

The tour, sponsored by several area YMCAs, presently includes two young people from the Kingston area. They are Patricia Short, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Short of Kingston, and Deborah Blaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blaha of Ulster Park.

The trip will include modern coach tours and experienced guides in all cities as well as places such as the Catskill as plenty of leisure time. Places to be visited include Lucerne, Heidelberg, Innsbruck, Florence, Naples, Rome, Capri, Geneva and Munich.

Stubbs said that three vacancies for the tour still exist and people may receive information by contacting the YMCA or Mr. and Mrs. Steketee.

PLAN STUDENT TOURS—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Steketee, chaperones for the YMCA co-educational European Study Tour go over travel details with Dennis Weber (L) Swissair representative. Twenty teenagers will tour Europe for a month this summer.

Summertime is travel time for area teens with a number of programs planned for land, sea and air.

Robert D. Stubbs, executive director of the YMCA, announced this week that chaperones for the YMCA co-educational European Student Tour have been selected.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Steketee of St. Remy met recently with Mr. Dennis Weber, Swissair representative, to discuss plans for the trip. Mr. and Mrs. Steketee will be touring with the group of 20 teenagers from September 1 through 7 at Syracuse.

But for those who can not make the European jaunt sponsored by the YMCA there are a number of other Y activities to while away the summer.

Weekend camping trips are scheduled as part of the junior high program. Participants will have a one- or two-day training period during the week before Friday afternoon departure for state parks and other pre-scheduled camp sites.

Friday at the YMCA will be special event day for youth. On alternate Fridays there will be coach tours and experienced trips for all age groups to tour guides in all cities as well as places such as the Catskill as plenty of leisure time. Places to be visited include Lucerne, Heidelberg, Innsbruck, Florence, Naples, Rome, Capri, Geneva and Munich.

Stubbs said that three vacancies for the tour still exist and people may receive information by contacting the YMCA or Mr. and Mrs. Steketee.

And for the real stay-at-homes there are guitar lessons starting this Monday. Classes are from 10 to 11 a.m. each day for an eight-week period.

Youth in the News

Selection and election to high places dominates the Youth in the News scene this week.

Jane Seacord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Seacord, Norton Road, Red Hook, a chemistry senior at State University College, New Paltz, has been awarded a Summer Intern Student Fellowship by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for research at Lewis Propulsion Laboratory, Cleveland.

Her work will be in the use of solar cells in converting energy from sunlight to other forms of energy and she will be assigned to the Electrochemical Fundamentals Section of the Cleveland Laboratory.

Dr. Angelos V. Patsis, professor of chemistry at New Paltz, is also associated, for the second year, with NASA's research at Cleveland.

Recent campus elections put two Ulsterites in important posts.

Nancy Lewis was elected corresponding secretary of the Student Association at Albany Medical Center School of Nursing.

Sh. is a sophomore at the co-educational school which has an enrollment of approximately 285 students.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Lewis of 65 Finger Street, Saugerties, and is a graduate of LaSalle-Peru Township High School.

Steven L. Hoffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hoffer of Hurley Mountain Road, Hurley, has been elected vice president of his sophomore class for the 1970-71 school year at Clarkson College of Technology, Potsdam.

MARK BROWER

Mark Brower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brower, was named to the chapter for his outstanding scholastic excellence.

In announcing the names this week NYU Chancellor Allan M. Cartter said, "This is an age when many previously established standards are shifting and almost all standards are under scrutiny, but Phi Beta Kappa continues to stand as a mark of academic excellence and intellectual integrity."

Mark, a physics major at NYU, will attend John Hopkins School of Medicine in September.

Although classes are over, spring semester high honor grades are still being compiled and reports are filtering in of Ulster County students on college dean's lists.

At Orange County Community College, Middletown, seven Ulster students were cited for outstanding academic achievement. They are Susan Detweiler of Plattekill; Karen and Kathleen Distel and Denise Widmer, all of Ellenville; Gayle Grunwald of Kerhonkson; Carol Pierce of Wallkill and Jay Van Wagenen of Woodstock.

Johnson won the award which is given annually to outstanding students selected on the basis of scholarship and financial need.

It's official now. New York University this week issued the names of the 97 graduating seniors who were elected to membership in the NYU Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the national academic honor fraternity.

In announcing the names this week NYU Chancellor Allan M. Cartter said, "This is an age when many previously established standards are shifting and almost all standards are under scrutiny, but Phi Beta Kappa continues to stand as a mark of academic excellence and intellectual integrity."

Mark, a physics major at NYU, will attend John Hopkins School of Medicine in September.

Although classes are over, spring semester high honor grades are still being compiled and reports are filtering in of Ulster County students on college dean's lists.

At Orange County Community College, Middletown, seven Ulster students were cited for outstanding academic achievement. They are Susan Detweiler of Plattekill; Karen and Kathleen Distel and Denise Widmer, all of Ellenville; Gayle Grunwald of Kerhonkson; Carol Pierce of Wallkill and Jay Van Wagenen of Woodstock.

Johnson won the award which is given annually to outstanding students selected on the basis of scholarship and financial need.

Floating Campus for Fall Term

SAUGERTIES Nancy Nitschke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Nitschke, 46 Spaulding Lane, Saugerties, has been admitted to the World Campus Afloat program of Chapman College for the fall 1970 semester at sea.

Miss Nitschke will join up to 500 other college students representing 200 colleges and universities in nearly all the 50 states on Oct. 10 to board the

S. S. Ryndam in New York harbor for a study-voyage to ports in western Europe, the Mediterranean and Latin America.

Student's carry a regular semester's units on the shipboard campus. They attend regular classes at sea between ports on the vessel which is equipped with the classrooms, laboratories, library, studio, theater, bookstore and offices necessary for the educational program of the Shore the academic program continues with lectures, research projects, and field trips directly related to course work. Overnight homestays with families often are arranged, as are social events with local university students.

Now in its sixth year, World Campus Afloat is administered by Chapman College, one of California's oldest, liberal arts institutions, located in Orange, Calif.

Hello, Goodbye For AFS Girls

WOODSTOCK of many new friends. During her year here she learned about snow and what fun it could be for skiing. She decorated her first Christmas tree and found out all sorts of winter things unknown in her country.

In addition to attending Oteora School and traveling with her host family, Karuna spoke before numerous local groups telling them about Thailand and her impressions of this country.

She leaves Sunday with a large group of fellow students to tour sites of historical interest. The tour has been arranged by AFS International Scholarships for departing students who will leave for their homelands July 15.

Karuna plans to complete her secondary education in the government school at Bangkok. From there she plans to enter college to study law with an eye on entering political life. In the political field she hopes to work for expanding democracy in education and the extension of equality and rights of women.

The AFS International Scholarships have sponsored 34,444 students from 80 countries since 1947 and 17,455 students from this country to one of the 878 Thailand students to visit and study in the United States under the program.

Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Kingston, was the setting of the wedding of Miss Elaine Ann Breitenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Breitenstein, 61 Grant Street, Kingston, and Roger Lewis Gille, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gille, 292 East Chester Street, Kingston, on Sunday, June 21.

The Rev. Frederick Preuss, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. James Reaser, organist, accompanied Ronald Smith, who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli, blue carnations and pompons decorated the altar. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza, styled with a high fitted waist and full length sleeves. The A-line skirt was softly shirred at the waist and the chapel length train was attached at the waist. The entire gown was dotted with daisies and Venice lace trimmed the ring neckline, cuffs and hemline. Her three-tiered silk illusion veil was attached to a stylized headpiece of organza roses and Schiffl patterned daisies. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and pink roses, centered with a pink rose corsage and baby's breath.

Mrs. Gene Breitenstein, sister-in-law of the bride, Orlando Street, Kingston, served as matron of honor. Attendants were Mrs. Kenneth Breitenstein, sister-in-law of the bride, 75 Lincoln Street, Kingston; and Mrs. Jack Niles, cousin of the bride, 617 Kiersted Avenue, Kingston. They wore empire, A-line gowns of blue silk organza. The bodices, puffed sleeves, and back panels were of patterned white chintilly lace. Their four-tiered veils were held by stylized petal shaped headpieces. The honor attendants carried a colonial bouquet of blue daisies, pink roses, and baby's breath, and the other bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of pink and blue daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Denise Gille, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a gown styled similarly to that of the other attendants and carried a basket of pink and blue daisies and baby's breath.

Bruce Gille, brother of the bridegroom, Ulster Park, served as best man. Ushers were Robert Frisco, cousin of the bridegroom, New Jersey; and Donald Breitenstein, brother of the bride, 61 Grant Street, Kingston. Bruce Gille Jr., nephew of the bridegroom, served as ringbearer.

A reception for 110 guests was held at the Capri "400" in Port Ewen.

For her wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pa., the bride wore a pink knit dress with white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed by Kingston City Schools Consolidated as a secretary in the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School.

Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School and attended Ulster County Community College. He is a member of the U.S. Army Reserves and is employed by the New York Telephone Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Gille will make their home at 292 East Chester Street, Kingston.

Miss Paula Marie Rathjen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rathjen, 237 Salem Street, Port Ewen, became the bride of John Joseph Horvers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Horvers Sr., 43 South Pine Street, Kingston, on Saturday, June 20 in St. Peter's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Daniel Croston celebrated the Nuptial Mass and officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Ann Goldrick, organist, accompanied Miss Rita Horvers, cousin of the bridegroom, who sang traditional wedding selections. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of satin faced organza fashioned with a scooped neckline and tightly cuffed full sleeves. Peau d'ange motifs accented the empire waist, bodice and skirt. The circular train was chapel length and she wore a stylized headpiece of hand rolled petals edged with seed pearls to which was shirred the silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of chrysanthemums and stephanotis with a white orchid in the center.

Miss Anne Ryerson, Ulster Avenue, Port Ewen, served as maid of honor. She wore an Empire style gown of georgette styled with a high neckline and abbreviated sleeves. The bodice and the neckline were accented with ruffles of self fabric and the waist was encircled with narrow satin ribbon terminating in a bow and streamer detail at the back. She carried a bouquet of pink gladioli.

Attendants were the Misses Nadine McGowan, cousin of the bride, Port Ewen; Debbie Kilmer, sister of the bridegroom; Pamela Prunty, Long Island; and Pamela Rathjen, sister of the bride, Port Ewen, who served as junior bridesmaid. Their orchid, pale pink, apricot, and maize gowns, respectively, were fashioned identically to the honor attendant's. They carried bouquets of daisies with streamers which matched the color of their gowns. All bridesmaids wore stylized headpieces in matching colors with tulle flirtation veils.

Joseph Tomaszewski Jr., 28 Stephan Street, Kingston, was best man. Ushers were Doug Diehl, Olivebridge; Joseph Horvers, brother of the bridegroom; Kevin Rathjen and Keith Rathjen, brothers of the bride, Sean Rathjen, brother of the bride, served as ringbearer.

A reception for 100 guests was held at Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

The bride selected a yellow dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses for her traveling ensemble to Nassau in the Bahamas.

Mrs. Horvers Jr. is a graduate of St. Peter's School, John A. Coleman High School and Ulster County Community College where she earned an AAS degree in Nursing.

Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School. He is employed as a manager by Shop-Rite, Kingston.

The couple will reside at 246 Agnes Street, Port Ewen.

Ann Marie Sperl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Sperl of 1, North Front Saugerties, exchanged marriage vows with Steven Paul Joyce, son of Mrs. Helen Joyce of Carlton Street, Rochester, on June 20 at a 2 p.m. double ring ceremony in the Saugerties Reformed Church.

Officiating was the Rev. Orville J. Hine. Howard Houghtaling was organist for the occasion and wedding selections were sung by John McCullough of Kingston, tenor.

Mr. Sperl gave his daughter in marriage. He escorted her to the altar which was decorated with white gladioli. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

The bride was gown in a floor length empire styled silk organza. The A-line gown was fashioned with full length sleeves trimmed with bands of Venice lace. A cathedral length mantilla was secured to a pillbox bordered with matching lace. The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and ferns.

Miss Susan Sperl of Saugerties attended her sister as maid of honor in a blue chiffon and taffeta gown styled with long full sleeves. Venice lace and ribbon accented the bodice, neckline and cuffs. Velvet ribbon and matching flowers highlighted her horsehair picture hat and she carried a cascade of carnations dyed to match the gown.

A cousin, Dorothy Wood of 184 Market Street, Saugerties, and Patricia Wilson of Elm Street, Saugerties, served as attendants.

Their gowns were identical in styling to that worn by the honor attendant except in colors of blue and pink. They carried matching flowers in cascade fashion.

Terrance Joyce of Carlton Street, Rochester, was best man for his brother. Ushering were Arthur G. Sperl Jr., Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, brother of the bride; and John Wood Jr., 184 Market Street, Saugerties, cousin of the bride.

A wedding reception was given at the VFW Hall in Saugerties for 125 guests. Afterwards, the couple left on a trip to Miami, Fla., and a cruise to Nassau. For traveling, the bride wore a white dress with matching accessories.

Mrs. Joyce, a graduate of Saugerties High School, will be a senior this fall at State University College at Brockport. Her husband is employed by Gleason Works in Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce will reside in Rochester.

Susan Elizabeth Podmayersky of Palenville, N.Y., and Craig Gordon Caswell of Tannersville, N.Y., exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, June 13 at 2 p.m. in the Simpson Memorial United Methodist Church, Palenville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Podmayersky of Palenville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Caswell of Tannersville, N.Y.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Richard Darling. Music for the occasion was provided by Mrs. Frank Yankowski, organist, and Miss Judith Smith, soloist.

Mr. Podmayersky gave his daughter in marriage. She was attended by her matron of honor Mrs. Charles Valk of Tannersville, and attendants Miss Judith Smith, Palenville, Miss Bonnie Hill, Palenville, Miss Noreen McColl, Tannersville, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Podmayersky Jr., of Millerton, N.Y.

The bride's silk organza and chintilly lace gown was styled along empire lines with Bishop sleeves, high neckline outlined with seed pearls and lace insets in the sleeves, front panel and edge of the chapel train. Her Camelot headpiece held four tiers of silk illusion veiling. She carried gladioli with lily of the valley and satin and pearl streamers.

The matron of honor wore a floor length gown of aqua voile with pink and white floral print. Bishop sleeves. Aqua streamers accented her white crocheted picture hat and she carried an arm basket of mixed pastel and white flowers with pink streamers.

The attendants wore gowns and hats identical to that worn by the matron of honor. Their arm baskets were accented with aqua streamers. Charles Valk of Tannersville was best man. Ushering were Michael Leach, Tannersville; William Caswell of Tannersville, brother of the bridegroom; John Podmayersky Jr., Millerton, N.Y., brother of the bride; and Roger Coviello of Melrose, Mass.

A reception for 85 guests was given at Toy City Restaurant in Cairo.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Hunter-Tannersville Central School. She is employed as a secretary in the Probation Department, Greene County Court House. Her husband, an alumnus of Hunter-Tannersville Central High School, is an honor graduate of Norwich University, Northfield, Vt. He has a BS in Business Administration and on June 6 was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army. He plans to study for his masters in the fall before fulfilling his military obligations.

For her wedding trip to Pocono Garden Lodge in Cresco, Pa., the bride wore a two-piece apricot ensemble with matching coat and a corsage of white gladioli.

Mr. and Mrs. Caswell will reside in Catskill.

NEW YORK (AP) —

Designer Shannon Rogers says, "When hemlines go down, necklines go with them. Leg watchers certainly won't be out of work, but neck and body watching is the new thing."

Rogers designs for Jerry Silverman. In his collection of varying skirt lengths, there are clingy black crepe dresses with deep V. necks. His long dresses have slits at the sides or front.

Morton Myles for Malcolm Charles slits his long skirts, too.

A surprise visitor at Wednesday's American designer showings at the Delmonico Hotel was Martha Mitchell, wife of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

She seemed to take a dim view of the thigh-high slits in the skirts, although she has several midcalf skirts herself. Anne Fogarty brought back the coquette, with two attached petticoats under a full black paper taffeta dress.

"Softness that never collapses is essential... Who wants limp chic, anyway?" she says. "I, frankly think only of the young woman who likes to be noticed."

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Karen Ann Moak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Moak Sr. of RD 2, Selkirk, to Donald Henry Schoonmaker III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Henry Schoonmaker Jr., Kingston.

Miss Moak is a recent graduate of Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk High School. Her fiancé, a graduate of Kingston High School, is attending Ulster County Community College.

Antalek Elected At Jaycee Convention

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Frank Antalek of the Saugerties Jaycees was elected vice president of the United States Jaycees at the recent annual convention held in St. Louis, Mo.

The Jaycees, a world-wide service organization for young men between the ages of 21 and 36, has over 350,000 members in the United States.

The election of president ran through 24 ballots and Gordon B. Thomas of Toledo, Ohio was finally named. There were five candidates in a 17½-hour voting session.

The balloting for vice president was held Thursday morning and the voting for president started in the afternoon after President Nixon addressed the 50th anniversary convention of the national body.

As vice president, Antalek signed states and will also be traveling throughout the United States servicing his as-

FRANK ANTALEK

Born in Schenectady, he has made Saugerties his home for the past 14 years. He, his wife Diana, and their three children reside in Echo Hill.

An employee of International Business Machines Corporation as an associate systems analyst in Kingston, Antalek joined the Saugerties Jaycees in 1959 and has held the offices of state director, local director, internal vice president and president of the local chapter. He held state offices of district president and national director and this past year was president of the New York State Jaycees.

During Antalek's year as president of the State Jaycees the organization flourished. New York achieved one of its highest standings in recent years among the 50 states. He had no problem in gaining supporters to travel to St. Louis to back his candidacy.

Over 300 State Jaycees and wives attended the convention to work to get Antalek elected. They also celebrated the 50th Anniversary of the U.S. Jaycees in the city where it all started. George Leombruno of Saugerties was Antalek's New York State campaign manager and Steve Chase of Saugerties acted as treasurer for the campaign.

Man Critical After Crash

TOWN OF LLOYD and 299 early this morning, according to state police from the Highland barracks. Robert Black sustained a possible skull fracture after his auto was struck in the side by a car operated by Ronald Lobloss, 22, of Baldwinville. Lobloss was not injured, according to troopers, although a passenger in his auto at the time, identified as David Gosselin, 24, of Whitehall, sustained lacerations of the scalp. His condition is listed as good.

3-Day Closing Of All Traffic On Plaza Road

KINGSTON Police Chief Francis J. Fagan and Urban Renewal Director James G. Connors announced today that on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 29 and 30 and July 1, Plaza Road between the Burroughs' office building and the foot of Fair Street will be closed to vehicular traffic while underground utility facilities are being installed by James Berardi, Inc.

This temporary closing of that section of Plaza Road will prevent traffic from entering or leaving the Kingston Plaza Shopping Area via Converse Street and Plaza Road.

Vehicular traffic, during the temporary closing of the street, will necessarily have to enter the Kingston Plaza Shopping Area via Westbrook Lane at Clinton Avenue or Fair Street Extension. Chief Fagan advises that it will be easier for all concerned to use Westbrook Lane, when possible. The Chief said that during this three day period, a left turn from North Front Street into Fair Street will be allowed.

Basch Charge On Drug Sale Is Dismissed

KINGSTON A charge of criminal sale of dangerous drugs second degree filed against 18-year-old Edwin Basch of 113 Hone Street, was dismissed Friday by City Judge Hubert A. Richter. Basch had been arrested on June 18 accused of allegedly selling hashish and speed to a person under 21.

The case was scheduled for preliminary hearing yesterday but it was brought out in court that a chemist at the State Police laboratory was not available to testify. Ellen G. Donovan, assistant district attorney, explained that the state police chemist doesn't attend preliminary hearings, but is available in cases to testify before the grand jury or at trial.

Harry Gold, counsel for the defendant, noted that there were several other reasons why the information should be dismissed, but the reasons were not enumerated in court because defense motion to dismiss the information was granted. The attorney commented that Basch never should have been arrested.

Rock Concert Set for Sunday In Clinton Town

TOWN OF CLINTON What's in a name? Apparently enough to warrant the sometimes obscure and always bemoaning appellations affixed to the present day rock groups.

The Clinton Recreation Park will be the scene of a Rock Concert from 2-10 p.m., Sunday with a long list of performers which reads like Mad Magazine in its heyday.

Heading the list the NRBQ, a nationally prominent group which resides in this rural town east of Rhinebeck.

And how about Nert McGee and the One and Only Original Motherfathers; or Heresy and Stockade.

But the winner for pure whimsy must be Zeke the Sheik and his Travelling Band of Roly Poly Rock'n'Roll Freaks.

Dear Abby

Hubby Is Off Base!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a girlfriend and everybody knows it because he moved out of the house and has gone to live with her. My problem is that my husband has the nerve to bring his girl friend to all the Little League baseball games to watch our son play. I quit going to the games because I don't enjoy them when he is there laughing it up with her. Furthermore, it upsets our son when he sees his father there with the woman who broke up our home.

I called my husband and told him that if he brings that girl to the game again I will take our son off the league. Do you think I was wrong to do this?

THE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes. You should ask your husband to please quit bringing the woman, not because it upsets YOU, but because it upsets the boy. If he insists upon bringing her, shame on HIM. But it's not fair to your son to take him off the league because his father is a boob.

DEAR ABBY: In one of your recent columns you attempted to quote the seventh verse of chapter eight in John's Gospel, and this what you wrote: "He who is without sin, let him cast the first stone."

I think you owe the Lord Jesus an apology because you have given the public the idea that Jesus sanctioned this woman's punishment, and this He did not do, for the verse reads correctly: "He that is without sin among you, LET HIM CAST A STONE at her."

This changes the entire meaning. And since The Book of Revelations tells us in Chapter 22, verses 18 and 19, we have no right to "take away from" or "add to." His holy word, I cannot understand why I repeatedly hear people misquote John 8:7. For your public's sake, and for Christ's sake, please make the correction.

"CAUGHT YOU"

DEAR CAUGHT: Indeed, you "caught me." I stand corrected.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:10 a.m. WKNY-1490)

The argument about today's hand undoubtedly was full of sound and fury. For all we know it may still be raging down in Fort Lauderdale where our correspondent wants to know just how the bidding should have gone.

As far as we can gather, North objected strenuously to his partner's rebid of one no-trump with a good five-card suit and no stopper in clubs.

North pointed out correctly that nothing could beat four hearts while as anyone can see the defense ran off five clubs against three no-trump.

We consider this whole thing a real tempest in a teapot. To start with, if clubs divided 4-3 or 6-1 (barring all three honors with the six) three no-trump would be unbeatable and if East held the king of spades instead of West the odds are that four hearts would bite the dust.

Furthermore, we wonder what North would have done if his partner had rebid two hearts. At this point we know that North claimed he would have jumped to four hearts (we have our correspondent's word for that), but would he have done so at the table or would he have thought to himself "Damn the torpedoes, full steam ahead!" and jumped to three no-trump.

He would probably have done very well at that contract. He would probably run off five hearts and three diamonds as a starter and then would lead the jack of spades with no intention of finessing and jeopardizing game and rubber, but it is just possible that East would have discarded a spade somewhere along the way and that West would cover that jack. If that happened, the queen of spades would drop the 10 and North would make all his spades.

All conjecture but unimportant. We believe that almost any expert would have made the same no-trump rebid that South did make. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Despite some apparent obstacles in the path of your desires, you are now able to start a new course of action that has appealed to you for some time, but that you have not been able to get off the ground. Rely on your mind instead of your emotions and you can make considerable headway.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A new start will help you gain your aims faster, even though you don't like to make certain changes that are necessary. Do those things that are impossible to do during busy work week. Fix home.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 2) Prepare for the future very quietly and forget the mistakes of the past and be confident. Encourage that romance that means so much to you. Evening car be an extremely happy one for you.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Get out with good pals and join in some interesting project that makes you feel happier. Get into the social recreations that bring you fine returns. Don't forget to pay that bill that is so important.

Moons Children (June 22 to July 21) Get career matters handled more intelligently so that you can advance as you should. A new beginning should make you more aware of all your potentials. Contact the right people.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Out of that dull routine and into the new places where you can meet the people who are right to have in your life now. Catch up on correspondence later. Enjoy new allies.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have clever ways of keeping promises you have made and you must be very precise and conscientious about them. Work constructively all day. Then devote the evening to things romantic and charming.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Sitting down and coming to a better understanding with an associate is wise this morning. Later, be active in social circles and make new contacts of value. Hobbies provide an excellent outlet during afternoon and evening.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Spend at least part of the day on practical affairs that help you to get ahead in your career. Find new ideas and items for your wardrobe so that you bring out your personality better and which looks more in fashion. Pick wisely, also as to price.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is a fine day to have the recreation with friends that you have wanted for a long time. Shop early. Be sure that you get your home looking just so before you go out, too.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) See what it is that family expect of you. Then, do your best to please them. Forget sitting in that easy chair. Get busy. Entertain at home in the evening and have a good time. Be happy.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Keep busy at duties that are difficult during work days, and catch up on telephone calls to friends. Make an effort to get vital information you need. Stop feeling sorry for yourself.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make sure everything concerning property and other assets are in perfect order today. An advisor will give the right advice if you contact this person early. Then follow it carefully.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who loves home and family and yet will have marvelous ideas of a pioneering nature and could be a boon to humanity, provided you, as parents, limit restrictions. This youngster is then able to do his or her best work without being restrained. Teach the finest ethics and religious ideas early and you have a successful son or daughter.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Richter's Individual Forecast for your sign for July is now ready. For a copy, send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Richter Forecast, The Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Now you find you want to return to the faith and principles of your family and yourself have long found sustained in days of trouble and tribulation. Later you find you are able to analyze your present financial condition and see where you can add to your abundance. Not good night for entertaining.

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Figure out how to add to present success through the methods that have brought you good luck before this. Plan a better budget for future operating. Evening is best time for some social fun.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Planning some new way to advance more quickly is wise today in your spare time. Then seek enjoyment with congenials and those who have good ideas to offer. Be friendly with everyone.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Meditation is helpful today since it gives you an insight in how to have more success in the future. Be in the company of good friends who have fine ideas and suggestions. Don't spend too much money, though.

Moons Children (June 22 to July 21) First attend to devotional duties, then see those you admire and vice versa at social functions. Make new contacts, since others find you very attractive today. Don't trust everyone you meet, though.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Know what your true position is in the world about you. Plan how to improve your lot in life and your public image. Get into some civic project that builds your reputation. Be well dressed.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Ideal day to study the spiritual and intellectual things for which you seldom have much time. Sit down and write to out-of-town friends who have information you want. Get it by using the right words.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are now able to find the right course of activity that will make your life more successful and happy in the future. Work out those basic problems with loved one tonight. Be more understanding.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show associates that you will cooperate and truly live the Golden Rule. Make allowances for their stubbornness. Talk over mutual affairs and come to a true understanding. Take them to dinner in the evening.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show those who have done you favors that you appreciate them a great deal in one way or another. Make this a happy day. Make improvements around the house so that all is more efficient.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do whatever will help you to relax but that will also help you to gain benefits. Show courtesy to a person who is close to you and gain favor. Be of a cheerful frame of mind.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be sure to do those little favors for kin that will alleviate the tensions under which they are presently laboring. Be loyal with them. Let them know where they stand with you.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get out to the services you like best in the morning, and then go to fun places with the good friends you like best. Have interesting conversations with those around you. Be keen of mind. Be happy.

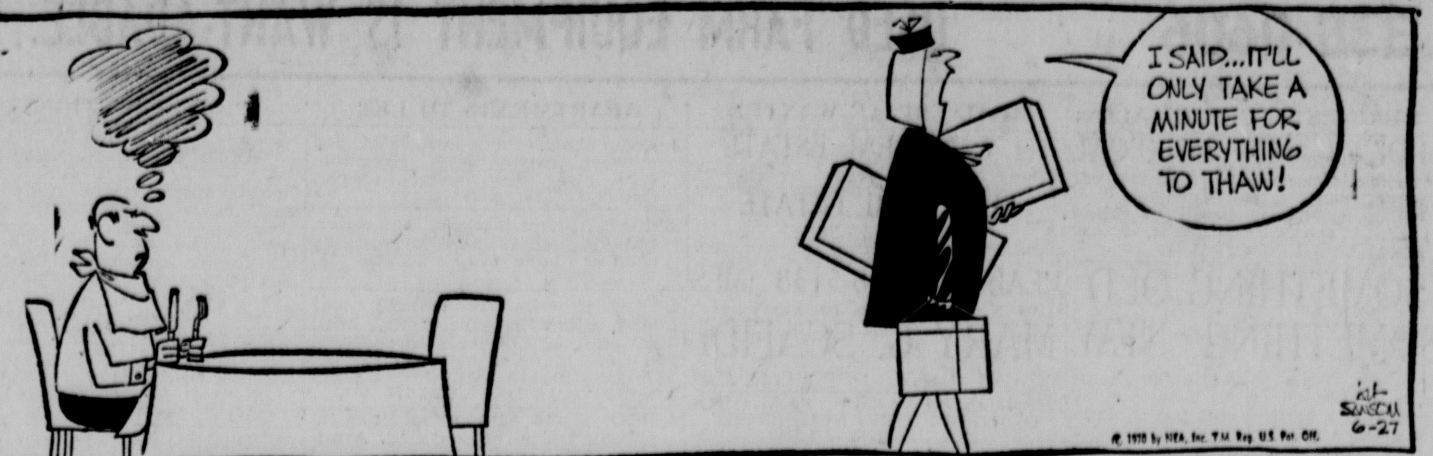

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those interesting young people who likes to deliberate to an extraordinary degree, that he or she could lose out where it counts the most because of the inability of being able to reach a decision on time. Be careful of the diet and give good spiritual training early so that the importance of timing is understood. Then your progeny can be a success in whatever the forte may be here, which could easily be in the field of science.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Richter's Individual Forecast for your sign for July is now ready. For a copy, send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Richter Forecast, The Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

NBC Appeals to 'Silent'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The president of the National Broadcasting Co. says "television has its own silent majority"—and that he'd like to hear it speak up in defense of the medium.

"The public which supports television with its viewing should now support it with its voice," says the network chief, Julian Goodman, adding: "The millions of viewers who enjoy television and rely on it should be clear in their support, just as the much smaller number of detractors are loud in their attacks."

Goodman made his remarks in an address this week to the Rocky Mountain Association of Broadcasters, at Jackson Hole, Wyo.

More Favor Than Oppose

"There are many more constituents who favor television than there are those who oppose it," he said.

"I think it's time television's silent majority became vocal," Goodman said, adding that he welcomes constructive criticism. But, elaborating on his theme, he said "the great body of the population gets its information and entertainment in the versatility and freedom of American broadcasting."

"This majority seldom registers its view. It has no official spokesman. It uses no rhetoric. It commands little public notice. Yet its stake in the future of a vigorous and healthy commercial broadcasting service is enormous."

Goodman encouraged broadcasters to tell "our constituents what the issues are, alerting our viewers to what they stand to lose, encouraging them to speak up."

One Aspect of Criticism

Speaking of one aspect of the criticism of television, Goodman said:

GOVERNMENT BY CRISIS—The fate of the Ulster Arterial seems to be pretty much up in the air at this point. But we're used to that . . . another example of government by crisis.

We've seen this time and time again. An issue may lie dormant for years and all of a sudden it's a crisis.

Take this Ulster Arterial. Now this thing has been lying around for at least six years that we know of. It started out as a great idea in two respects, we are told. First, it would provide relief for Broadway from southbound traffic and secondly, it would provide all the money the city would need to pay its share of its urban renewal debt.

The issue flared up now and then but mostly it was a case of the state quietly drawing up its plans. Those plans haven't really changed much over the past six years. The right of way remains basically the same.

Things got rolling last summer because in the opinion of numerous aldermen, things weren't rolling fast enough. Jay Rolison, the senator and Clark Bell, the assemblyman, were called in to expedite matters. The mood, as we saw it at that time among the aldermen, was full speed ahead. Get that road built. Urban renewal needs it.

The mood now appears to be just the opposite. We're losing more property. The road will carry traffic away from Kingston. Business will be hurt.

Can this be the same road the aldermen were trying to speed up last summer? Indeed it is.

The crisis is upon us. And true to form, no one seems quite sure what they're talking about. People talk about urban renewal credits in lieu of cash. Daddy, what's a credit? How do we get them? How many do we have? What do we owe if the road doesn't go through? These are some of the questions being bandied about by befuddled aldermen who are torn between voting for the good of the city or for the good of their wards.

The public might well assume that at some point in the past there was a systematic review of the entire situation.

Like putting the question: Does Kingston need this road? Getting the facts, making a decision and alternates.

No. It's being done right now. In the midst of the crisis. About a month before the aldermen are expected to vote on it. The mayor and the aldermen have called for a complete report from the urban renewal agency on the whole situation and its two alternatives.

Imagine. This road has been an intricate part of the urban renewal plan since its inception and only at this point in time, a month before a final vote must be taken on it, is the necessary information being gathered.

Of course, the presence of accurate information is by no means a guarantee of a fair or intelligent vote by respective aldermen.

A lot of things enter into a crisis, not least of all horse trading the grand old political game where you give me something and I'll give you something.

The trade in this case could well be the proposed Hess Apartment complex uptown for the arterial downtown.

It works like this. A number of uptown aldermen don't want those apartments for various reasons. They, however, don't have the votes to dump it. A number of downtown aldermen don't want the arterial. So they trade. Ergo, everyone has enough votes for what they want.

It's called politics . . . government by crisis . . . and the public invariably loses.

EXPERIENCE COUNTS—It isn't often that we get to write anything about Hamilton Fish. We wouldn't say Fish is colorless. He's just not flamboyant.

He's on the job, though. We read with interest the copy of the letter he sent to the census bureau concerning Kingston and Greene County.

Fish made it quite clear in the letter that he knows his way around Washington bureaucrats . . . to wit . . . "I am aware of the tendency by departments to deny the possibility of error and the easy way in which almost any mistake can be rationalized away. I trust this will not be the case in this instance."

Hop on 'em, Ham. That's the way to get action from those guys. Ham's no fish.

RAY ROCKED BY GOP—We hear the appointment of Ray Armater as Gov. Rockefeller's county coordinator didn't set too well with city GOP leaders. Armater probably heard the same thing but still showed up at the GOP city committee meeting on Wednesday night. He took quite a pounding, we are told.

Armater's record in local political hassles has been, to be charitable, somewhat erratic. Party leaders felt the appointment should have gone to a more deserving son.

Who knows? That's their business. We've always found Armater to be a straightforward guy and honest.

We've been informed that Armater is serving Rockefeller as a volunteer, that is, without pay. Now, that's a bit hard to believe. Rocky spends his money like he spends ours.

EVIL RUMORS—Former Mayor Ray Garraghan, local folk hero, is still alive and well and so are numerous rumors about him.

Two of them are real dandies. We hear that Garraghan is organizing a Democrats for Rockefeller Committee and that he plans to run for mayor as an independent with Republican blessings.

Well, we got it right from the horse's mouth. The horse stuttered a bit but managed to follow.

About the mayor thing: "Not me. I've done my hitch, that's ridiculous. Where the hell did you hear that one? . . . grumble, grumble . . . mutter, mutter."

And about the Rockefeller thing: "That's ridiculous, where the hell did you hear that one? I'm too busy with my business . . . grumble, grumble, mumble, mumble."

So that's the story, folks. That's what Ray said.

Paltz Student Death Is Ruled Accidental

NEW PALTZ —Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson has issued a finding of accidental death in the case of a 21-year-old former State University College student who was discovered dead in an on-campus dormitory bedroom at the college on the afternoon of May 27.

The dead youth was identified by authorities as Wayne Taliaferro Jr., of 134 Edgecomb Avenue, New York City.

Chipp said that death of the youth was due to an overdose of amobarbital. Webster's defines that as a crystalline compound used as a sedative and hypnotic with its sodium salt being used similarly.

The autopsy report also noted an acute pulmonary congestion of the lungs and acute passive congestion of the liver, spleen and kidney, and a condition around the heart known as epistemic petechiae, and amyloid intoxication.

A college spokesman said Taliaferro was well known and highly respected among students and faculty at the college, where he was reported in good standing before he dropped out last Spring.

Taliaferro had been a candidate for election to the key office of president of the Student Government Association. Several other students sought the post during the election, and Taliaferro finished in second place, with the successful candidate being elected by a close margin.

At the time Taliaferro left college earlier this year, he planned to miss the semester. A few days before he died, he went to the college to visit

U.S. Jets Will Stay in Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will continue fighting an air war in Cambodia after American troops leave next week, according to Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

The Pentagon chief told newsmen Friday the primary purpose of the continued air operations would be attacks on enemy supply lines with "an ancillary benefit" for Cambodia ground troops.

"I would be less than frank or candid if I didn't say there would be side effects on the troops on the ground," Laird said in indicating the possibility of U.S. air support for local combat troops.

Laird's remarks followed by one day a statement by Secretary of State William P. Rogers that the possibility should not be closed out of air support of Cambodia forces by U.S. war planes.

The Defense official also was speaking the day Senate's foes of President Nixon's Southeast Asia policy claimed a unanimous vote restating congressional war making powers had restored the teeth to a proposal to limit future U.S. action in Cambodia.

"It brings back into proper equilibrium the purpose of the Church-Cooper amendment," said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, cosponsor of the key antiwar proposal that has been the focal point of seven weeks debate over Cambodia.

Church commented after the Senate voted 73 to 0 to approve a surprise amendment by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

The Javits proposal inserted into the amendment of Church and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., a phrase stating that Congress retains full constitutional power to declare war and regulate the armed forces.

Despite the lack of opposition the vote appeared at the least to be a psychological victory for administration opponents. They had feared earlier amendments restating presidential powers as commander-in-chief would serve as a mandate for President Nixon to move again into Cambodia or anywhere he chose.

"We were writing a blank check," said Javits after introducing his amendment.

He added that in view of the approval of language concerning presidential authority, "We ought quickly to balance it off by saying we're not giving anything up."

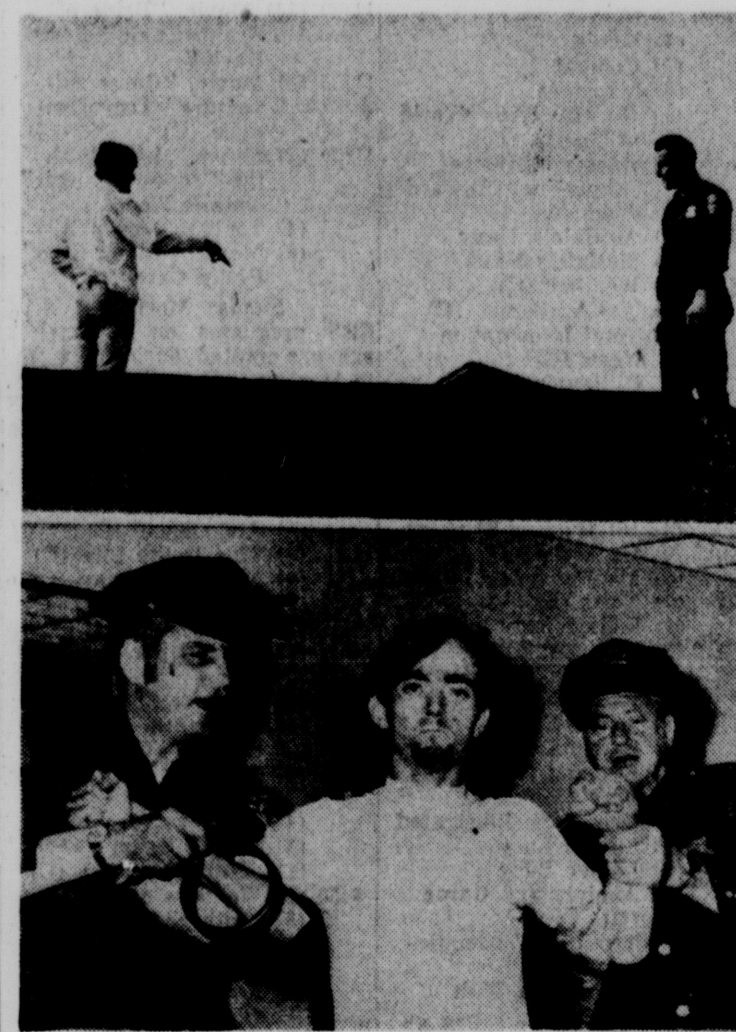

Administration supporters went along with the amendment, saying it did nothing more than restate what already is in the Constitution and which the Senate could not change anyway.

"If we were to vote against this amendment as I read it, we would be voting against the Constitution," said Assistant Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan.

Although the over-all effect of the amendment was uncertain, Church said it served to restore his proposal to its original purpose—"to say to the President that he could not spend public money in a way Congress prohibits."

The net effect is to leave for future disposition, unprejudiced either way, of the respective war powers of the Congress and the President.

Red Hook Teachers in Agreement With School Board on Contract

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK

The Red Hook Teachers' Association and the Board of Education have reached agreement on the 1970-71 contract, according to reports issued this week.

One request by the teachers has not yet been included in the list of agreements. This deals with the length of the student day. A special committee has been formed, with three members of the board and three teachers, to decide on the best recommendation to the board.

There has been no wage increase, since this item was covered in the two-year contract which was concluded last year. The basic starting salary of a teacher with a bachelors degree remains at $7,000.

The reason for asking for a change in the student day is because last year's contract called for a change in the teachers' day. It is expected that this will be resolved in time for the opening of school in September. The contract negotiations have been taking place for four months, with the board employing a professional negotiator for the first time. Some items recently agreed upon, according to Board President Frances A. Rabbett, are an increase in faculty sick days from 10 to 12; the board will assume an increase of 35 per cent in its share of faculty hospitalization, and a 15 per cent increase on dependency hospitalization.

Also, faculty members will be notified if their requisitions for materials were being denied.

New teachers would receive greater supervision, with a minimum of three observations per year for three years.

And teachers may attend other schools to observe methods, as well as conferences.

Postpone Pollution Trial Against Mt. Marion Firm

SAUGERTIES

The trial of Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp., Mt. Marion, on charges that the firm is in violation of the town's obnoxious odor, smoke, dust and soot ordinance has been postponed by a stay order issued by Supreme Court Justice John Pennock of Troy.

An action was started in Supreme Court by the Aggregate firm through its attorney John L. Larkin to declare the town ordinance unconstitutional on several grounds.

Arguments were heard before Justice Pennock last Friday. There is also some question whether or not the town met the legal requirements of having the ordinance published after adoption.

Justice Pennock ordered the stay until he decides on the constitutionality of the ordinance.

The case was to be heard before Town Justice Michael E. Catalinotto.

Justice Catalinotto previously had ruled in favor of the complainant, the Town of Saugerties, on similar motions to have the ordinance declared unconstitutional.

The complaint in applicable portions, alleging violation of the town ordinance, charges that the defendant on Jan. 20 in Mt. Marion, "did allow or cause the discharge into the open air of such quantities of coke, cinders, soot, dust, noxious gases, offensive odors and other pollutants from its plant in such a manner as to cause injury or a nuisance to the residents in and about the area of said plant and thereby damage the health of said residents and/or cause injury or damage to the property both real and personal."

Town Attorney Richard B. Overbagh defended the action in Supreme Court.

Identify Body

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)

A body found in the Hudson River here Friday has been identified as that of Francis White, 72, a patient reported missing Tuesday from Hudson River State Hospital.

White's death was ruled a drowning by the office of the Dutchess County medical examiner, but an inquest has been scheduled.

Thant on U.N. Birthday: Become 'All Embracing'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)

U.N. Secretary General U Thant says the international organization should become "all embracing" by admitting Red China and "divided countries" such as North and South Vietnam.

He made the proposal Friday night at a black-tie banquet of U.N. officials and delegates ending a two-day celebration of the 25th anniversary of the signing of the U.N. charter here.

"Having the People's Republic of China in mind, I recommend that the United Nations be made universal," Thant said. "The absence of the People's Republic of China and of the divided countries has given the United Nations a great deal of artificiality."

Other U.N. non members include North and South Vietnam, North and South Korea, and East and West Germany.

The secretary general often has said that the absence of Communist China and North Vietnam prevents the United Nations from working effectively for peace in Indochina.

In his dinner speech, Thant said, "The simple people in the street, those whose sons are dying in far away countries, cannot understand why the United Nations is not seized with the most burning issue of 1970, the war in Indochina."

Universality was one of his main points in a program he proposed to pull the United Nations out of "a crisis of confidence" in which, he said, "disillusionment has undoubtedly reached a new pitch."

His other proposals: "Make a 'radical change from present power politics to a policy of collective responsibility towards mankind' abandoning 'blind acceptance of the sacrosanct concept of national interest.'"

"Resolve with new determination and will, the dangerously deteriorating situation in the Middle East" by helping the Israelis and Arabs reach a settlement.

"Look more inquisitively into the obstacle of ideologies," because "ideologies are perfect only in theory" and for effective government they must "enrich each other" with what has proved good.

"Look anew at . . . vast unsolved worldwide problems such as economic and social development, justice and human rights," on which "much more needs to be done."

"Diagnose, monitor and face together the new collective challenges and dangers which arise from a rapidly mushrooming scientific and technological civilization accompanied by unprecedented mass phenomena."

If governments do not do that, Thant said, "the world will rapidly deteriorate behind their backs and above their heads."

About 70 persons picked peacefully across the street from the Fairmont Hotel during the dinner. A few held signs protesting the Indochina war, but most protested the Soviet Union's policy on Jewish immigration, carrying signs saying "Let Our People Go."

Fifteen U.N. and California notables spoke at an afternoon commemorative meeting in the War Memorial Opera House, scene of the U.N. organizing conference April 24-June 26, 1945.

Harry S. Truman, who as president attended that conference, sent a message from Independence, Mo., saying the United Nations "is deserving of our continued support."

It "has not always lived up to our highest hopes," Truman said. "It has nevertheless managed to make substantial contributions to peacekeeping."

Reds Dump Dubcek; Struggle Continues

PRAGUE (UPI) — The expulsion of liberal reformer Alexander Dubcek from the Communist Party has revealed that a fight for political power in Czechoslovakia is far from being settled, diplomatic sources said today.

The party central committee announced Friday night that Dubcek, a life-long Communist who steered his country through the ill-fated reform era of 1968, had been stripped of his party membership.

Diplomatic sources considered the ouster of Dubcek a clear victory for orthodox hardliners who consistently accused the former party leader of political heresy, but at the same time, his expulsion was interpreted as a defeat for moderate Gustav Husak, the successor to Dubcek as party leader.

Trial in Future?
The sources said Husak had tried in vain to save Dubcek. But he was overruled in the 11-man presidium that approved the expulsion. The central committee vote made it official.

The sources said only the future will show whether the hardliners will be satisfied with the complete removal of Dubcek from the political scene or whether they will insist that he also be put on trial.

Husak is believed to oppose such a trial, which might seriously endanger his own position.

Whereabouts Unknown
In his address to the central committee, according to the CTK News Agency, Husak warned that "it would not be correct to put into one bag all those who were ousted from the party with the real enemies of socialism," but added that it "is absolutely unavoidable to purify the party."

The sources considered this statement an indication that further leadership changes are expected when the central committee convenes again later this year to end the exchange of party cards, the official term for the purges of the party rank and file.

Diplomatic sources said the central committee rejected a proposal also to expel Antonin Novotny, Dubcek's Stalinist predecessor, from the party. Dubcek's whereabouts have not been reported since he returned from Turkey.

Protect Achievements
Husak told the Central Committee that Czechoslovakia "shall not go the way of artificially constructed political trials."

"We will protect the socialist achievements of our people and shall use legal means," he said.

The central committee also recommended Dubcek's expulsion from the parliament, his last public function. Earlier this week Dubcek was recalled as ambassador to Turkey, a position to which he was appointed only six months ago on the insistence of Husak against the hardliners' opposition.

Whereabouts Unknown
In his address to the central committee, according to the CTK News Agency, Husak warned that "it would not be correct to put into one bag all those who were ousted from the party with the real enemies of socialism," but added that it

From TV's 'Star Trek' To a Bachelor Swinger

Comedies come and go — often with alarming frequency — but "The Tender Trap" seems to remain perennially popular. And when it opens at the Hyde Park Playhouse next Monday, June 29, as written by humorists Max Shulman and Robert Paul Smith, it will be starring an actor whose face has been seen in almost every living room in America.

William Shatner, one of the very finest television actors of the times, comes to Hyde Park in "Trap's" lead role, that of Charlie Reader, a swinging bachelor with girl problems. Shatner, a handsome young Canadian, gained international fame on the long-run television series, "star Trek;" scored again with TV viewers only short weeks ago in "The Andersonville Trial."

A product of the repertory company of the now distinguished Stratford (Ontario) Shakespeare Festival Shatner has starred in such roles as "Henry V." In time, he became one of television's busiest actors; signed a film contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; starred on Broadway in "The World of Suzie Wong" and "A Shot in the Dark."

Thousands Protested

But it was "Star Trek," the hour-long, weekly NBC television series that made his name a household word. The show had a remarkable history. Destined to be snipped from the network schedule, it was reinstated after thousands of letters poured into network offices. Shatner was the No. 1 man on the series; was cast as Captain James Kirk, commander of the USS Enterprise, a cruiser-sized space ship.

With Shatner as the name

JANE ZACHARY brings girl watcher appeal to the Hyde Park production of "The Tender Trap." She's starred with Barry Nelson as the kooky ingenue in "Cactus Flower."

draw, Hyde Park Playhouse producer Eddie Bracken, one of the most admired showmen in the U.S. theater, has put together a great new company of actors and actresses to keep "Trap" looking fresh; give it the luster of a new show.

The comedy has an exceptionally large cast, and the principal players at Hyde Park are all total professionals — guaranteeing a hilarious performance of this play that takes place in a peachy bachelor's pad overrun with pretty girls and burgeoning with parties.

The supporting cast includes Jane Zachary, who has just completed a Florida tour as Eleanor Parker's daughter in "Forty Carats" and who has delighted audiences as the kooky ingenue in "Cactus Flower" opposite Barry Nelson, the original Broadway star. Also featured will be Geraldine Court, who scored in "The Boyfriend," "Barefoot in the Park" and "Time of the Cuckoo."

Talented, One and All

The rubber-faced Matthew Tobin comes to the Playhouse production of "Trap" from the widely-acclaimed off-Broadway production of "The Boys in the Band;" is familiar to daytime television viewers as Carl Stokes on NBC-TV's "The Doctors." Then there's Marilyn Wayne, who appeared on Broadway in "Don't Drink the Water," and Judy Jordan, who was featured in the Broadway and national company productions of "Enter Laughing," and in the national company production of "Fiorello." Add Richard Kuss, who was in Broadway's "J.B." and "Wait Until Dark;" and Bill Mooney, a vividly brilliant performer, and you come up with a blend that makes for a fascinating comedy entertainment.

Shatner should be at the very top of his form as the successful bachelor trying to teach his kid brother how to take over as a swinging single. He has been starring in the play at Playhouse on the Mall, Paramus N.J.

The laughs go a long way in this play and it's a genuine original, a zany charade that's crisp and filled with humor. The remarkably gifted cast is being directed by Michael Simone, who has worked under Roberto Rosellini and Vittorio DeSica, and who received unanimous raves from the critics last year for his direction on "The Man With the Flower in His Mouth," three one-act plays by Luigi Pirandello.

Shatner and company will be on stage at the Playhouse in Hyde Park from June 29 through July 4. Reservations are available by phoning the box office at 229-9141. So go and see it. Tempo guarantees you'll have a good time.

'America Hurrah' Suggests The 'Nation's Nightmares' With a Flamboyant Flair

CAROL EMSHOFF, who's scoring as the coolly coping wife and mother in "Joe Egg," the current attraction at Woodstock Playhouse, will show another side of her versatile talent in "America Hurrah," the flamboyant critique opening in Woodstock next Tuesday night.

No play in recent years has been more bizarre and, at the same time, more exhilarating than "America Hurrah." Now the Jean-Claude van Itallie critique, boasting all the flamboyance that stunned Broadway audiences, is coming to the Woodstock Playhouse from June 30 through July 5.

Basically, "Hurrah" is a series of metaphors that suggest this nation's nightmares and afflictions, along with its infectious indifference and violence. It's a play that bombards the audience with galvanizing scenes and language. And, more than in most productions, design plays an important part in the action. Giant larger than life puppets are used to emphasize the enormous destructive potential of the characters they represent.

Directing "America Hurrah" for the Playhouse is Jeff Bleckner. His versatile cast includes: Tom Crawley, Stan Edelman, Carol Emshoff, Sean Griffin, Jane Marla Robbins, Louis Smadbeck, Jennie Ventris, and Dianne Wiest. David Taylor, Woodstock's resident designer, is in charge of the production, and lighting will be by Ronald Wallace. Both Taylor and Wallace are responsible for design and lighting of the current Playhouse show, "Joe Egg."

And in "Joe Egg," the art colony stage has a success.

SEAN GRIFFIN is proving adept at drawing laughter and tears from audiences at Woodstock Playhouse performances of "Joe Egg" currently. He'll return to the same stage next week as one of the top featured cast members in the bizarre and exhilarating "America Hurrah."

Audiences are intrigued by this play which proves that drama can be hilariously funny and deeply sad at one and the same time. "Egg," authored by Peter Nichols, who co-authored "Georgy Girl," continues at Woodstock tonight and tomorrow.

Its plot centers on the hopelessly brain-damaged daughter of a British ex-actor cum school teacher and his wife. Still, the play is not so much about the child (after all, she doesn't really exist), but rather about her effect on her parents and their marriage.

Starring in the Woodstock production are Sean Griffin as Bri, the father, a wild "vaudevillian," and Carol Emshoff as his coolly coping wife, Sheila. Delightfully batty and marvelously funny as Bri's mother is Virginia Downing, long a Playhouse favorite.

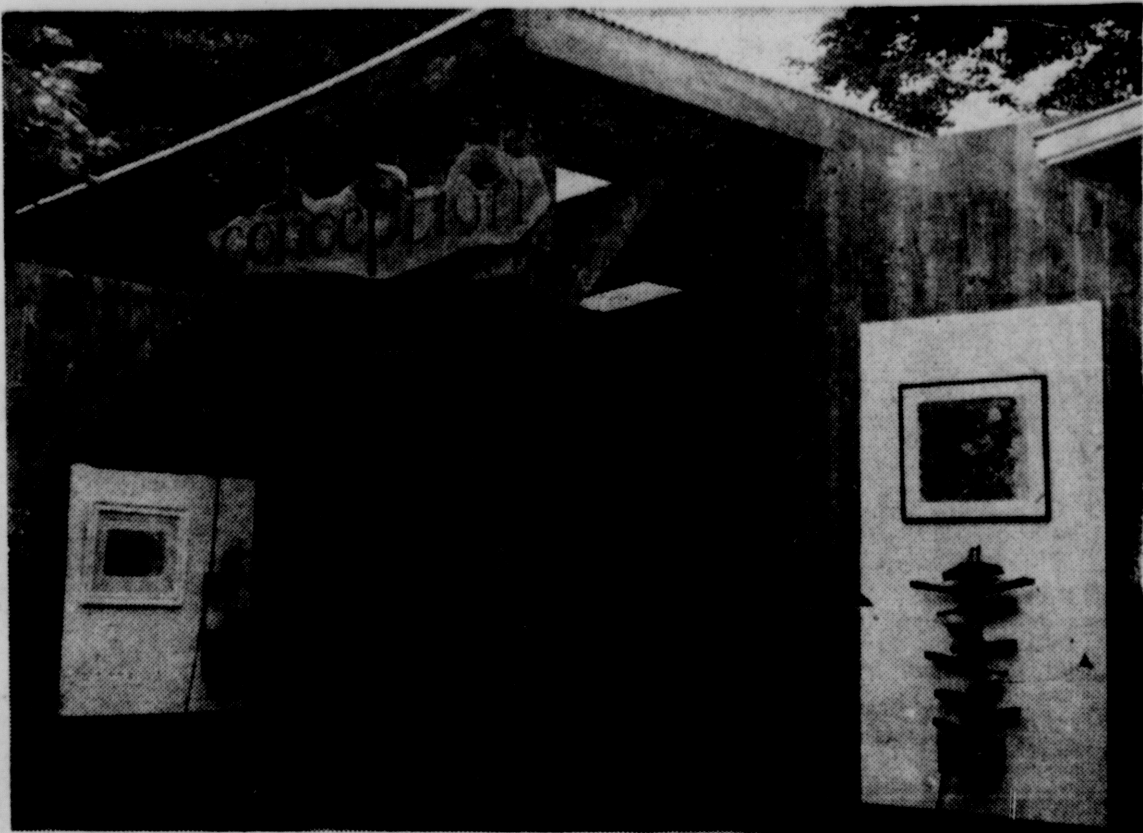

The production has been directed with compassion and lucidity by Harold Baldridge.

Theatre parties and group discounts are available for all Woodstock shows. For information and reservations, call 679-2015 or write P. O. Box 268, Woodstock, N. Y. 12498.

ENCOURAGING THE FEELING of a wedding between new and old at the Conception Gallery are such touches as this: a tiny sculpture figure with the fleet look of the space age contrasts sharply with an ancient wooden beam and a gnarled rope that might have swung from an old hayloft.

ON A SUNNY SUMMER'S DAY, Woodstock's Conception Gallery tends to define itself as an environment where art meets nature. With its rustic, open-air look, it combines the charm of rural architecture with the ultra-modern works of art inside.

Conception Gallery: All 'Abubble' With Kinetic Sculptures

The sun filters in from wide open doors, dappling the rough hewn wooden floor with a patchwork of golden circles. The placid gurgle of softly running water pervades the interior with a sometimes gentle, sometimes ghostly sound.

There's tranquility here but an articulateness, too, in the vari-colored paintings affixed to the walls, drenched in a tremulous light. Environmental sculpture pieces, on occasion, offer pop imagery that helps to underscore the diversity here.

Woodstock's new Conception Gallery at 95 Tinker Street may not be an architectural masterpiece but, in its quiet rusticity, it has more appeal than many a larger gallery that is too much form, too little function.

Playful Use of Space

What has impressed many is Conception's unconventionally playful use of space, offering viewers what can only be called a joyful visual experience. The building itself is barnlike and small, attributes which give it a personal touch. Its very simplicity works to accommodate the art exhibited inside and out.

The current show there, slated to run through July 2, features a dizzying array of kinetic water sculptures by Hans van de Bovenkamp. They are marvelous creations for this particular environment. Each part merging into another, tiny streams of water slithering downward, the van de Bovenkamp sculptures seem to have an independent life of their own.

Married to the architecture of the Conception, too, are the paintings, pen and ink drawings and oil pastels of Ronald Kuri-loff, Jeremy Steig and Isaac Abrams. Each brings either a vibrant color harmony or a sense of balance to the surroundings.

Add a wealth of other intriguing sculptures, hand-crafted jewelry and custom costumes to the watery music of the kinetic sculptures—blending with music from a phonograph, and you're presented with an interesting place to visit from noon to evening daily except Mondays.

LIKE A SURREALISTIC potted plant, this kinetic water sculpture by Hans van de Bovenkamp grows ever upward as its rechanneled water trickles downward. It's currently attracting visitors at Conception Gallery on Woodstock's Tinker Street.

METAL TROUGHS carefully catch stream of gurgling water and pass it along to repeat the process again and again in this avant garde waterfall by Hans van de Bovenkamp.

LIKE A MORNING GLORY vine climbing up a garden wall, this van de Bovenkamp sculpture combines the soft murmur of flowing water with the twists, turns and convolutions of its flowerlike petals and leaves.

ANY HOME that possesses this kinetic sculpture can successfully turn off the morning fog with the cheerful sound of splashing water wending its way past the flowerlike wheel in the center. (All photos by Freeman photographer Bob Haines).

Airport

This star-studded drama is overblown in the old Hollywood tradition, but the vast majority of movie-goers will eat it up. It's got 13 big name stars, one of the worst blizzards in Mid-west history, a few extra marital affairs, and a mad bomber.

Based on the widely read, best selling novel, it's big and melo-dramatic and outside; is now at Kingston's Mayfair Burt Lancaster is the manager of a mid-western airport who's faced with the problem of Keeping it open during the worst winter storm to hit the a. in 30 years. But Burt manages to handle one emergency after another with help from George Kennedy as a tough-talking, cigar-chomping maintenance chief, no help at all from his wife (Dana Wynter), and a little love and affection from Jean Seberg, passenger relations agent for one of the airlines.

And that's not all. Burt's also got a brother-in-law, jet pilot Dean Martin, unfaithful husband of Lancaster's sister (Barbara Hale), who's a "no-good irresponsible louse who can't pass up an opportunity to knife" his relative by marriage.

Headed for Rome

Anyhow, pilot Dino takes off on a flight to Rome with co-captain Barry Nelson and stewardess Jacqueline Bissett, who turns out to be pregnant with Martin's child. On board is Van Heflin, whose attache case arouses the suspicions of customs inspector Lloyd Nolan; a little old lady stowaway played by Helen Hayes; and Heflin's wife (Maureen Stapleton), who's been insured for $150,000 in accident policies.

Devotees of the book will find no fault with the film. It's a whale of a lot of movie and there's no point in nit-picking about its weak points. It's easy enough to relax and enjoy it in spite of all the cliches and soap opera emoting. And in spite of the fact that it's obvious from the start that Van Heflin has a homemade bomb in that attache case — and that even when it explodes, you just know that crippled jet is going to make it down safely.

Cotton Comes To Harlem

This one we liked — but REALLY liked. As it unreeled currently at Kingston's Community, it's full of wild chases all over Harlem and comes up with a surprise ending that's a dilly.

It fills the screen with gunfire, Tactical Police Force officers and black actors playing at "cops and robbers."

"Cotton Comes to Harlem" has a lot going for it, not the least of which is the most marvelous Godfrey Cambridge and the talented Raymond St. Jacques as Gravedigger Jones and Coffin Ed Johnson. They do absolutely everything well, including blasting down a door with shotguns.

A Real First

What makes the film exciting is that it's definitely a first. Based on one of the mystery novels of Chester Himes, it focuses on a pair of Harlem detectives who set out to investigate the "Back to Africa" movement led by the Rev. Deke O'Malley, played by Calvin Lockhart, an actor in the same league with Sidney Poitier.

The result is a black James Bond adventure epic, but with a big difference. "Cotton" is funny — not just black inside jokes and Harlem humor — but slapstick funny. It's also the first feature film ever made that shows the life and tempo of Harlem as it is today. Not just the rats and garbage cans and welfare recipients, but Harlem as a frame of mind. The Harlem of soul food and hot pecan pie to go, along with the creaking tenements.

One thing is sure... Coffin Ed and Gravedigger are going to delight even those people who don't know where Harlem is, as will the ending that paraphrases a famous Biblical quotation: The good Lord taketh away. But He also provideth.

Little Works Appeal In Woodstock Show

19—THE DAILY FREEMAN, JUNE 27, 1970

Drive-In is this sequel to 1968's "Planet of the Apes."

Again we are catapulted into an era some 2,000 years hence on a planet populated by civilized apes and mutated humans. Satire and comedy alternate with science fiction melodrama.

Charlton Heston is back as the astronaut, and Kim Hunter and Murice Evans repeat their roles as civilized, articulate apes, who have it all over the mute, primitive humans.

Satirically, the human race does not come off well, but the orangutangs are amusing as they twist our own clichés to fit an anthropoid society. All in all, light summer entertainment to give one pause to think upon the future of mankind.

The Undeclared

On the double bills with "Apes" at the two drive-ins is this full-bodied, post-Civil War western. It co-stars John Wayne as a Union Colonel and Rock Hudson as a Confederate Colonel. They cross paths enroute to Mexico, and become friends as they outwit common enemies together.

There's plenty of action and stylish direction as Wayne rounds up wild horses, gets created by government agents, makes a deal with Emperor Maximilian of Mexico. The action also includes bandit attacks, banditos, guerrillas, and Juaristas opposed to Maximilian.

What Do You Say To a Naked Lady?

At Kingston's Sunset Drive-In is this movie to flinch by. Directed by Allen Funt of TV's "Candid Camera" fame, it's a beady-eyed bit of Peeping Tomism.

Nothing more than a parade of the naked — male and female — with scenes of a man offering his jacket to a nude lady waiting for an elevator and a lady instructor arriving in the buff to give a sex lecture. It's X-rated candid camerawork that is not so funny as embarrassing to a viewer.

The Night They Raided Minsky's

On the Sunset Drive-In double bill with "Naked Lady" is this film, back for its umpteenth rerun.

But it's a delightful valedictory valentine to oldtime burlesque that's worth seeing again. A highly successful musical, "Minsky's" combines fact and fancy to prove burlesque girls were not always glamorous and the baggy-pants buffoons of the day were not always W. C. Fields calibre.

The barefaced comedy is great in this brash and bawdy romp. And Britt Ekland is fine as a chaste Amish girl turned burlesque dancer. Jason Robards and Norman Wisdom excel as a crooked straight man and a doleful comic; and the pickles, pushcarts and passers-by of the recreated '20 make for nostalgia.

A Man Called Horse

A often violent, sometimes authentic and realistic, always sad western is "A Man Called Horse," now playing at Hyde Park Drive-In.

Plot centers on the physical tortures undergone by Richard Harris, playing a pampered English nobleman captured by a Sioux tribe. To prove his worth and receive warrior status, he serves as a slave to Judith Anderson, that grand dame of the theater who's cast as an old squaw. He also spends a lot of time hanging from the end of ropes in the blazing sun. But he perseveres to achieve, by character and inner growth, the respect and place due a true man as the Indian: see it.

A little too gory for our tastes, but we have to admit there's power and thunder in the action scenes, including a battle sequence between the Sioux and the Shoshones.

The annual "LITTLE WORKS" show at Woodstock Artists Association is always a popular attraction for collectors. Small but excellent works of art are offered at attractive prices, giving prospective purchasers the opportunity to take home a painting or drawing for their home.

This year's "Little Works" show opens today, June 27, with a gala party from 4 to 6 p.m. It is slated to run through July 7.

On the walls at the Artists Association Gallery, on Woodstock's Village Green, browsers will find works in all media, with paintings predominating. The work area on each piece does not exceed 192 square inches, but the individual artists have utilized this limited space well to create beauty.

Jury of Three

The jury for the "Little

Works" show included such distinguished artists as Doris Lee, Andree Ruellan and Maurice Golubov, who selected the best work in all media, limited to three pieces, by those artists submitting work for the show.

Drop by sometime during the run and you'll be intrigued by the detail that goes into a work of art, no matter how small.

Plimpton as 'Heavy'

NEW YORK (UPI)—George

Plimpton, the society litterateur who will try anything once in the interest of making a dollar via books, television, movies or you-name-it, has two one-hour specials scheduled for the ABC network next season. The dilettante footballer, boxer, golfer, etc., will do one show with a circus, as lion tamer, clown and trapeze artist, and the other has him playing the "heavy" in a John Wayne

PROCOL HARUM, popular A&M recording group, will appear in concert at the Woodstock Festival grounds out between the art colony and Saugerties on July 4. PROCOL HARUM, making their first U.S. tour in nearly a year, features (l-r) B. J. Wilson, Chris Copping, Gary Brooker, Keith Reid and Robin Trower. Their third long-playing disc for A&M has just been released under the title "Home."

JOHN SEBASTIAN, once the central figure of The Lovin' Spoonful, has turned solo performer; will repeat his success at last summer's Woodstock Aquarian Fair in Bethel at this summer's Woodstock Festival locally. He'll appear at the weekend series slated for July 4, 5, 6 on the Glasco Turnpike Festival grounds.

Woodstock Sound Comes Home to Roost

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

For almost a year now — and in spite of widespread publicity to the contrary — millions of people around the globe have remained convinced that 1969's biggest happening rocked itself into history in the Ulster County art colony of Woodstock.

Because the youthful producers of the 1969 Woodstock named their three-day rock festival after the town in which they had first hoped to hold it, millions refuse to believe that the young generation converged for that explosive sound experience at Bethel instead of Woodstock, N.Y.

As a result, the art colony has become a symbol of the staggering Woodstock experience, and local Woodstockers themselves streamed into their hometown movie house this week and last in an attempt to understand why as the "Woodstock" film played to full houses.

The Real Woodstock

This summer, Woodstock will finally come home to roost. If the 1969 Woodstock actually took place more than 50 miles away from the place most people mistakenly think it was held, the 1970 Woodstock will be the one and only original version.

That's because a series of weekend concerts is slated through July and August at the Copeland Farm, Shultis Corners, between Woodstock and Saugerties. The series comes in as the Woodstock Festival, not because of its '69 predecessor but, because in reality, this marks the fifth year the concerts have been held locally.

But because Woodstock now means Woodstock Nation, youth coming together, and the musical experience to end them all, this season locally will mean something special. And the summer will bring many of the top names in all musical fields to the Glasco Turnpike field, along with enough improvements to hopefully earn it an enviable reputation of its own.

While no one involved looks for or wants a repeat of the Bethel experience, there is hope that the local Woodstock Festival will become known as a refreshing musical scene; a nice place where nice people come together.

Sebastian Stars

The first concert series planned is for July 4, 5 and 6. Topping the bill will be John Sebastian, one of the performers at the Bethel festival, who stands out in the film version for his moving and lucid comments on the scene that has staggered the imagination. That Sebastian could explain so well what Bethel meant to audience and performers alike is reflected in his music.

He has a total rapport with audiences; draws standing ovations wherever he goes. Youthful music fans know he lead the late, lamented Lovin' Spoonful; also know he is a solo performer of much talent, as well as a composer of various rock classics. Sebastian's greatest asset as an entertainer (aside from his prodigious talents as a singer, musician and songwriter) is his seemingly effortless ability to create an aura of warmth, gentleness and even love, which makes people feel just plain good deep down inside. Every line Sebastian sings has the same ring of truth as his "Nashville Cats," with its country feeling.

Indeed, Sebastian is one of the few young folk and rock songwriters who has managed to break all age barriers. Like a Mark Twain of pop music, he is the best choice the Woodstock Festival producers could have made to prove to area residents who are resisting this summer's concerts that the series aims to be low-key and attractive.

Sharing top billing with Sebastian over the Fourth of July weekend will be Procol Harum, a group that would still remain part of contemporary music history if it had created nothing more than its classic "A Whiter Shade of Pale." But Harum has added to that with a series of superb albums of high originality. Their A & M records have topped charts throughout the world; they have toured Europe and America; have established the fact that they are not "fave raves of the moment."

Among TV's Best

It is to be hoped that everyone with a television set has had or will have a chance to see the syndicated British-made series, "The Forsyte Saga," dramatization of the celebrated John Galsworthy novels. Aside from the pleasure to be had from this beautifully produced and acted series, you may be inspired to read or re-read the books, any of which is worth a dozen of today's best-selling novels.

High Quality Performers Lined Up for Maverick Hall

Exciting, varied and totally rewarding is the promise of the 1970 series of concerts just announced by the Maverick Concerts Committee, as the long-lived series enters its 55th year.

After more than half a century of offering chamber music of the highest order without interruption year after year, the Maverick can look back with well deserved pride; face this year's season in the knowledge that it will rise to new heights.

Music lovers from all over the Northeast will trek to the Sunday afternoon concerts again, knowing the established tradition will be continued, with all the great works of the classical repertoire presented. And there will be novelties, too, this season, assuring audience contact with some of the exciting new trends in composing. If the emphasis is on classical at the Maverick, the committee feels, too, that an acquaintance with prevailing trends is desired by all aware music lovers.

Season's Program

Among the excellent ensembles appearing at the Maverick this season will be, in order of appearance:

July 5—New York Pro Musica, the celebrated group of 12 singers and instrumentalists founded by the late Noah Greenberg.

July 12 — The Curtis String Quartet, well known throughout the U. S.

July 19—The Berkshire String Quartet, acclaimed for its beautiful playing.

July 26—New York Chamber Soloists, an ensemble that has toured the world.

Aug. 2 — Musical Arts Trio, with the noted John Wummer on flute.

Aug. 9—William "Fritz" Kroll, famed pianist and an all-time favorite with Maverick audiences.

Aug. 16 — Theodor Uppman, the renowned Metropolitan Opera baritone.

And Still More

Aug. 23—Jacqueline Marcault, a pianist considered the Maverick's "own," with Robert Bloch on violin.

Aug. 30 — The Philharmonic Piano Trio, with local musicians-in-residence, Charles Libove and Nina Lugovoy of Shady.

Sept. 6 — Claude Frank, the celebrated pianist who will end the series for the Labor Day Weekend.

The committee takes pride in being able to offer a roster of such celebrated musicians and outstanding ensembles, most of whom command fees beyond the Maverick's budget. Noting that a proliferation of festivals has made musical concerts big business, and that the current inflationary trend will affect the Maverick, the committee urges a good attendance this summer, and encourages contributions and season ticket purchases.

Such support would assure both financial help for the Maverick and its ability to meet the fees of prominent artists of high calibre, assuring performances of continued excellence there.

Same Sylvan Setting

That noted performers have signed this season, the committee feels, is a tribute to their respect for the Maverick and the prestige and personal good feelings they derive from playing in the legendary hall. The upcoming program assures audiences that presentations on the highest plane of musicianship will again be presented in the same sylvan setting with its extraordinary acoustics. Hopefully, capacity audiences will turn out to appreciate the high quality performers lined up by new program director, Leo Bernache.

Committee members feel that no other form of music generates such intimate and intense pleasure as chamber music; note that the greatest masters have written their noblest works for this medium. Musical expression of the highest calibre, they believe, in a world seemingly surfeited with jazz, rock and other pop forms. For them, chamber music is the "IN" form of music, and they are hopeful that the "Be With It" cognoscenti will flock to this season's Maverick Concerts.

DEVIL'S SPRING is one of the scenically beautiful spots at Hidden Valley. Once known simply as "The Deep Hole," its pure water is reputedly bottomless . . . and it has never been known to freeze. (Freeman photo by Haines)

HIKING can be one of the most rewarding recreations offered at Hidden Valley. And why not when strollers through the woods find fantastic rock formations such as this, many with mysterious caves inside. (Freeman photo by Haines)

A Family-Oriented Haven Is Hidden Valley's Complex

The enormous, family-oriented recreation complex that is Hidden Valley is so spacious that after providing room for thousands of picnickers, there's still enough acreage left over for a contemplated golf course, many more miles of hiking and snowmobile trails, and several campgrounds for those who like to toss up a tent outdoors.

Hidden Valley, just south of Kingston off Route 32, started out primarily as a place where the company picnic could come into its own. Its more than 200 acres was taken over less than two years ago by James and Mickey Duncan, who came from California in the largest, single family move out of that state by Allied Van Lines. The Duncans and their children, dogs, cats, household belongings and week's worth of laundry set the tonnage record for the weightiest cross-country move ever via Allied.

Their new home here was an old church retreat so long abandoned the landscaping was overgrown; the buildings crumbling and paintless. Says Mickey Duncan, "It took me three weeks to pack in California and three months to unpack here." But the unpacking was finally accomplished after the buildings had been renovated and repainted, the land cleared, and long weeks spent in just picking up the broken glass that littered the premises.

A Recreational Playground

Today, Hidden Valley is home to the Duncans, a home as beautiful as the one they left in the San Fernando Valley with its gardens, patios and pools. But it is also a recreational playground for all seasons for those who enjoy scenic beauty, hiking, swimming, boating and fishing, snowmobiling, ice skating and ice fishing.

Hikers and nature walkers are lured by the strange, cavelike rock formations that dot the acreage. Swimmers are attracted by the mile-long lake with beach areas geared to children's safety. A mountainside toboggan run is one of the wintertime attractions, as are the miles of snowmobile trails through woods and over meadows, and the speed rink on the lake for ice skating.

More than a century ago, Hidden Valley was part and parcel of the thriving cement manufacturing Village of Whiteport. Mineshafts and kilns remain from that era but, mostly, the land has been returned to wild flowers, towering hemlocks, fern-filled forests, wooded hill-sides and rolling pastures. To this abundance of natural beauty, the Duncans have added and enlarged so they can entertain their friends, and expanded still further so they could open it to the public at reasonable rates.

Golf Course Planned

Companies, clubs, organizations and family groups can now enjoy the clear, sparkling lake, beaches, hiking trails, bath-houses and clubhouse, barbecue pits and ball fields. Before many more months have passed, Mickey Duncan envisions a golf course including an old milk room turned into a gazebo as a rest stop; a huge square dancing hall on the second floor of the refurbished dairy barn; an eight-sided wedding chapel of stained glass walls, with receptions catered; a complex of covered bridges and beer grottoes in the old mineshafts; and a restoration of the old Village of Whiteport, complete with general store.

There is no question in our minds that she will be able to accomplish all this and more. The briefest of visits to Hidden Hollow attests to the fact that she has not hesitated to use both money and talent to create a minor miracle already. James Duncan is president of Universal Major Industries Corp., industrial oil and gas producers. With a seat on the National Stock Exchange, he can and will exert every effort to making Hidden Valley a dream come true.

The Duncans insist that Hidden Valley is "the prettiest place in three states," and their concentration on picnic business comes from a desire to "do something constructive . . . like the old family togetherness thing." It's their contribution to the public — offering people a chance to use their leisure time in the "best way."

The Valley, in short, provides virtually limitless recreation. By next summer, it will be offering even more as a carnival, bazaar, rodeo and concert center.

Country Concert

A concert coming up, as a matter of fact, should provide many with their first view of the Duncan domain. If you've never been there on a company picnic or on your own, the big, two-day Country Concert on July 4 and 5, from 1 to 10 p.m., offers you the opportunity.

The Duncans "think Western" and they're converting their Sunrise Meadow lakeside to the biggest country and western concert in Ulster County's history come this year's Independence Day celebration.

Thousands of tickets have already been sold and the rumor's abroad that it'll be filmed by TV cameras. Tickets to the concert include access to the woodland trails, picnic areas, swimming, and nine hours of continuous music each day.

National recording talents such as Skeeter Davis and Little Jimmy Dickens are on the program, along with dozens of others who know how to mix humor and what may seem to be tragedy in their music.

The nasal twang will reign supreme at Hidden Valley, rain or shine, throughout the day and night of July 4 and 5. And, as the soul music of C&W floats out over the lake—communicating a singer's misery over faithless women and bad luck and other misfortunes — audiences will undoubtedly be grateful that Jim and Mickey Duncan chose NOT to keep Hidden Valley all to themselves. # Woodstock Sound Comes Home

There'll be many other performers, too, at the Independence Day opener, including Sly Boots, known as fine musicians and beautiful song composers, with a Columbia album due this month; Banchee, one of the better hard rock bands; and a sprinkling of local talent. All in all, 12 big groups to kick off Woodstock geographically and musically.

There is little point in avoiding the fact that many High Woods residents would be happier had this festival been scratched, or that attempts to force its producers to abandon their plans were made via a new assemblage law in the Town of Saugerties.

Knowing full well that they face generation gap problems, the producers nevertheless plan to proceed. They feel too much time and money has already been invested to "pull out now." And they feel, too, that they can prove to the community their desire to cooperate; do so so well that many will come to view the Woodstock Festival as a contribution rather than a detriment.

To make their events more acceptable as an entertaining place to be, they're building a bandstand, fencing in the field, setting up concession booths where local craftsmen can display their wares, cooperating in every way they can with local police and governmental authorities, complying with the regulations of the new assemblage law, closing down early.

Could Be an Asset

"We know if we don't make a go of it and do all we promised in the first weekend or so, then the town would have every right not to grant us the necessary permits," says a spokesman for the festival. "But we want to put something good together, utilizing country and western and classical music along with rock. And we're sure, if given a fair chance, we can prove we're an asset by bringing such personalities here as Eric Clapton and the Juilliard Wind Quartet."

Woodstock nation, its music and "beautiful people" is not the aim here. The "Togetherness rhetoric" may be the same, but it is highly unlikely that the 1969 Woodstock will ever happen again. Optimistically, enough could be borrowed to keep the ethos alive on a smaller, friendlier, more neighborly basis.

Summer Series At Storm King

A diversified series of four chamber music programs is planned at Storm King Art Center, Mountainville, through the 1970 summer season.

Going into its 11th year, Storm King's Chamber Music Series has slated four Sunday afternoon concerts for June 28, July 12, July 26 and Aug. 9. All programs will be presented at 5 p.m.

Tomorrow afternoon's program will feature the Camerata di Musica, offering the Haydn Divertimento No. 2 in G Major, the Beethoven Trio for Violin, Viola and Cello in G Major, Op. 9, No. 1, and the Brahms Sextet in B flat Major for Strings, Op. 18.

Six Top Talents

Six talented artists compose the Camerata di Musica, including violinists James Maurer and Jacqueline Maurer, violists Carolyn Voight and Arthur Royval, and cellists Luis Garcia-Renart and Glenda Bossen.

Those who have been attending Storm King concerts over the years will know that musical treats are in store for them again during the summer series. Newcomers attending for the first time are promised a delightful experience, combining beautiful music in scenic surroundings.

Advance reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Ned Shreve, 534-2104. Tickets will also be available at the Storm King Art Center before each concert.

Here She Comes

NBC's telecast of the Miss America Pageant finals, 50th anniversary of the contest, will be on Sept. 12, 10 p.m. to midnight.

Consider yourself a crate of eggs.

As a crate of eggs, there's always the danger of becoming an omelet. But in a Renault 16 you wouldn't have to worry. It has a unique 4-wheel independent suspension system that has caused Road Test Magazine to write: "the ride of the Renault 16 can be compared only with that of the Rolls Royce, Mercedes, or Citroen."

Which should be of great comfort to any crate of eggs, let alone a human being.

POTPOURRI

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

Without a doubt the most unique wedding in these parts in many-a-moon took place one recent Sunday atop Lake Mohonk Mountain when John Novi, proprietor of High Falls' noted DePuy Tavern, and Rosa Lou McGuffey exchanged vows in nature's own chapel, the out-of-doors.

The bride arrived at the garden gazebo—in antique satin with daisy bouquet—via horse-drawn carriage, to music provided by female flutists. The groom awaited, garbed in gray top hat, striped pants, gray coat, AND handlebar mustache.

Approximately 400 guests — some coming by way of bicycle-built-for-two—sprawled on fantastic grounds amid moss roses, Peonies, snowballs, and afterwards participated in Greek folk dances led by Woodstock's famed Ron Sanders. Red and white tablecloths and basketed picnic lunches (bearing name-cards, if you please—everything was so-o-o orderly) dotted the countryside and champagne corks popped so fast and furiously, it just wasn't safe-section for low flying birds.

Twin pineapple, whipped cream wedding cakes boasted black bow tie and high black hat atop "his," while string of pearls crowned "hers." (You know John's family operates Novi's Bakery?)

Among the many wishing John and Rosa Lou happiness to a "ripe old age," were Bill and Tildy Davenport, Milt and Kay Wagenfohr, Paul Sturges, Bill and Betty LaVoie, the Ted Grendas, Tim Tetlow, Bob Schneller, the John Wilkes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lynch, Dr. Charles Galyon and his fiancée Marie Louise Schellhammer, just to name a few. Everybody was so jubilant 'bout happy affair, that Padre who tied the knot did only thing possible . . . he asked whole "congregation" to applaud, just the way one would at any other fairytale event . . . and so, John and Rosa Lou Novi ventured forth in their new life together, a romantic legend in their own time.

Salvucci's was so hopping one recent Friday night, bar stools hardly had chance to cool. Bob and Joan Murray were celebrating Bob's climax of two week bank seminar at West Point; Harold Hargreave III was celebratin' some successful business ventures; aviatrix Gale Brownlee must've been celebratin' birthday of Orville Wright; and Frank and Peggy Cashin were just celebratin'—but then when you're happily wed who needs any 'extra' reasons? . . . Marie Cherney was slightly chagrined 'cause dining friend beat her to last of soft shell crabs; one thing 'bout Marie, tho', she never got "crabby" about it!

Joel Brink was sportin' new hairstyle at Arnold's 19 Restaurant; a four-inch crew cut combed-to-the-side, so to speak. Made him part of the Establishment without shedding youthful image; sort of like spannin' two eras with one barber . . . Sherwood Lasher's back to grind after recent operation. Regardless of what he tells you (romantic tho' it may sound), his foot injury is NOT an old football wound—just an old, unglamorous bunion!

An Open Air Art Show

Informality will be the keynote of an open air art show slated July 3, 4 and 5 on the grounds of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock.

Taking art outdoors will be the sponsoring organization,

Woodstock Creative Arts, Inc., incorporated last year to promote cultural activities. Any and all artists have been invited to exhibit their works by WCA, and there are no restrictions as to age, residency or media. Artists are asked only to limit their paintings or other work to six pieces, and to bring their own stands or tripods or whatever they think will best serve to display their particular art. Portfolios or drawings will also be accepted, as will sculpture.

Artists wishing to participate are advised to bring their work to the open air art show on Friday morning, July 3. A wide-open affair, there will be no jury, no entrance fee for artists, no admission charge for viewers.

In other words, come one, come all . . . and have fun in the sun, courtesy of Woodstock Creative Arts.

Winter Olympics

NBC Sports has exclusive United States television rights to the 11th Winter Olympic Games at Sapporo, Japan, Feb. 3-13, 1972.

Hurleyville Fair In Five-Day Run

All set to go is the second annual Hurleyville Summer Fair, scheduled in Morningside Park from Tuesday, July 7 to Saturday, July 11.

Slated for this year's event are many new and exciting attractions with plans calling for 13 thrilling rides and more than three dozen games of skill. There'll also be exhibits of farm animals and agricultural equipment, along with sports equipment and other displays. Fireworks and jazz bands will add to the fun.

The Hurleyville Fair is admission free with free parking available. The grounds will offer a wealth of food concessions, ample picnic areas, boating, and convenient rest rooms. Awarded to some lucky fair-goer each day will be both a girl's and a boy's bicycle.

The Morningside Park site of the fair is in the township of Fallsburg and lies between the villages of Hurleyville and Loch Sheldrake. The big show will be open each day during the July 7-11 run from 12 noon to 12 midnight.

Lavish and Opulent . . . And Sugar-Spun

The New York City Ballet will open its fifth anniversary season at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center Wednesday, July 1, with a performance of that sugar-spun classic for children of all ages, "The Nutcracker," at 8:30 p.m. The full-length ballet will be danced a total of six times, the first for a student matinee on Wednesday, and then on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 2-4, at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, July 5, at 3:30 p.m.

"The Nutcracker," with music by Tchaikovsky and staging and choreography by George Balanchine, was first introduced to Saratoga audiences in 1968 and returns this year by popular demand. A balletic fantasy about a magical nutcracker that does battle with king-sized mice and transports children into a rapturous kingdom of sweets, it is annually produced by hundreds of companies the world over. Of these, the New York City Ballet production, which uses 41 children in addition to a full company of adult dancers and has dazzling sets by Rouben Ter-Arutunian, is generally conceded the most opulent and magnificent.

Repertory Follows

Following "The Nutcracker," the company will move into three weeks of repertory which will include the world premieres of Balanchine's "Suite No. 3" and one other new ballet. Other highlights include the upstate premieres of Balanchine's Gershwin-inspired "Who Cares?" and Jerome Robbins' "In the Night," the sequel to his masterpiece of last season, "Dances at a Gathering." The last-named work as well as such other Saratoga favorites as "Jewels," "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" and "Stars and Stripes" are also slated for performance.

The Saratoga Film Festival's second week will be devoted in its entirety to the immortal Charlie Chaplin film, "The Gold Rush." Showings take place in the Spa Theater and are given twice nightly beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for all performances are available at the Center's Route 50 box office or at Ticketron outlets in the Albany area.

PART WAY UP picturesque Mead's Mountain Road in Woodstock sits the Gardner Gallery. For its opening show of the season, it has been exhibiting—along with prints and drawings—an array of large photographs with universal appeal. Taken during the flight to the moon of Apollo XI, the photos are in stunning color; are so clearly detailed, whether close-ups or distance shots, they give a fascinating "you are there" feeling that could have captured the mechanics and beauty of the trip in no other way. Gallery director Beatrice Sturtevant Gardner shows two of them here. Fourteen others decorate the gallery walls; can be seen by the public through the end of June. (Freeman photo by Haines)
